

FRANCE REMAINS FIRM IN SEIZURE POLICY IN RUHR

President Poincaré Issues a Statement to Justify the German Invasion.

PARIS, April 2. (By the Associated Press).—Premier Poincaré Sunday received Frank B. Noyes of Washington, president of The Associated Press, and subsequently authorized the following statement:

"Efforts have been made to distort the reasons for and the nature of the policy followed by the French government when it decided to occupy the Ruhr basin. It is by virtue of the treaty of Versailles and in consequence of the defaults of Germany, certified by the reparations commission under this treaty, that we went into the Ruhr to bring about final settlement of the reparations problem.

"We regret that not all of our allies participated in this policy of coercion which then would have been carried out under less difficult conditions and made the pressure upon recalcitrant Germany not only more effective but would have hastened results. But when the occupation of the Ruhr shall have resulted in compelling Germany to make precise serious propositions, it will be in accord with our allies that we will settle the reparations problem.

"We are thoroughly resolved not to relinquish, in return for mere promises, the guarantees that we have seized and not to evacuate the Ruhr except as payments are made to us and in proportion to them.

"I have, moreover, noticed with the greatest satisfaction in the American press increasing evidences of sympathy for the enforcement of the law which have been obliged to take.

"I have the firmest confidence in success. Nothing will divert France from her determined course. She will continue on with the same patience, the same calmness, until the collapse of German resistance."

Mother, Son Held For Theft of Dope

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Mrs. Anna Henry and her son, John W. Henry, 25, of 2293 Mission street, are under arrest charged with breaking into the drug store at 1526 Ocean avenue. According to the story told by Mrs. Henry to the police her son is a narcotic addict. She said she was trying to take him to the early morning Easter services on Mount Davidson, when he became overwhelmed with a desire for narcotics.

Two Killed and Seventeen Injured in Auto Mishaps

Two persons are dead and seventeen are suffering from injuries today as a result of automobile accidents, which are responsible for two men being in jail, one following a foray in a stolen machine.

THE DEAD.
Mrs. Grace M. Williams, aged 29, of Richmond, died at midnight in a hospital here from injuries sustained two hours previously, when an automobile, said to have been driven by Alfred Paolini, 2823 Ninth street, Berkeley, crashed into a safety station at Ninth and McDonald avenue, Richmond.

Mrs. Williams' sister, Mrs. Ruth M. Clark, was painfully injured and was confined to a hospital today.

Paolini was arrested and held in jail here pending filing of charges against him today.

James Eshla, 10 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eshla, of 140 Ash street, Stockton, received fatal injuries when the car in which he was riding with his parents left the highway on a hill about a mile east of Livermore late Saturday night. The Eshlas were on their way home to Stockton from Oakland, at the time. The boy died while on the way to a hospital at Livermore.

INJURED.
Marshall Wells, 2529 Sixty-sixth avenue, is at the Providence hospital with numerous lacerations and a possible fracture of the skull. Francis Lobelt, 6622 Benvenuto avenue, was placed in the Berkeley city prison on a charge of driving an automobile without permission from its owner. According to the police Lobelt removed the machine from the Claymont garage in Berkeley late Saturday night.

He met Wells and Marion Hayes, 2823 Woolsey street, Berkeley, at an Oakland dance hall and while taking them home, crashed into another machine, the driver of which has not been identified.

Frank Gundro, 181 Seventh street, suffered a possible fracture of the skull when he was run down by a machine on the corner of Doherty and Magnolia streets.

When the automobile in which Quan Yee and Quan Took, both Chinese, of 423 Ninth street, collided with the machine of Norman Benker, 470 Fifty-fifth street, yesterday at Market and Forty-fifth streets, late yesterday, both received cuts and bruises.

D. Blachophuk, 22, and J. F. Machado, 21, both of the St. George Hotel, were out and bruised yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding overturned between Richmond and San Pablo.

When the automobile in which they were riding was forced into the curbing at Lincoln avenue and Webster street, Alameda, by a woman who did not give the turn signal, Grace Bottencourt, 954 Thirty-seventh street, Oakland, and Helen Basso, 889 Forty-seventh street, Oakland, received bruises and lacerations. They were riding in a car driven by Demonic Basso, brother of the injured girl, south on Webster street when a machine in front of them, driven by a woman, turned suddenly at Lincoln avenue without warning.

Wet pavements, which caused automobiles to skid, were responsible for several accidents at San Jose yesterday, half a dozen people being injured. The most serious one occurred when the machine driven by Joseph Gorionti, who was accompanied by Peter Bealoni, skidded directly into the path of a speeding Bascom avenue car on West San Carlos street and was struck by a street car. Gorionti and Bealoni sustained severe cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. J. C. Sullivan suffered a sprained back and contusions when the auto in which she was riding skidded and crashed between San Jose and Saratoga.

A. Ferguson received a deep cut over the eye and other injuries when his machine skidded into another machine in a business district.

ARRESTED AFTER ACCIDENT.

John Serbstinger, a truck driver, of 2421 Damuth street, Oakland, is in the San Francisco city prison today following an accident at McAllister and Filmore streets, San Francisco, in which he ran down and injured two young women. He is charged with reckless driving. The injured are Mrs. Nadine Rickels, 4507 Sacramento street, cuts and bruises, and Miss Edna Smith, 674 Third avenue, possible fractured nose, both of San Francisco.

Mrs. Charles Torrance, of 1555 Harrison boulevard, Oakland, and her daughter, Mrs. W. P. Stannford, were taken to a Livermore hospital Saturday night after the automobile in which they were riding had been struck by a skidding machine on the highway near Livermore. Both women were cut and bruised.

Jack Miller suffered a fractured collarbone and a fractured right leg, and John Mcweeney a fractured nose and lacerations on both legs when the automobile in which they were riding crashed at Lorenz junction last night. Both men are residents of San Leandro.

According to the police the men were speeding when the accident occurred. They were treated at the County Hospital.

Memorial Planned For Mrs. Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Friends of the late Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst are planning to erect a drinking fountain in some local public square as a tribute to her. The fountain will, it is believed, be located in the Civic Center.

Mrs. John Hays Hammond called a meeting some time ago, at which the Phoebe Apperson Hearst Memorial Association was formed. Later a memorial appeal was sent out. Sponsors of the movement said today they hoped to have a sufficient amount of money for the fountain raised by April 15, the fourth anniversary of Mrs. Hearst's death.

RUSSIANS DEFY BRITISH; REJECT PLEA FOR PRIEST

Alien Notes Regarding Sentencing of Churchmen. Held 'Unfriendly Act.'

MOSCOW, April 2.—(By International News Service).—The British delegation, in an appeal today to Foreign Minister Tchitcherin against the execution of Catholic Vicar General Monsignor Butkevitch, declared such an act would arouse horror and indignation hardly desirable by the Russian government.

The soviet's reply asserted Russia's right to sentence lawbreakers according to its own code and charged outside attempts at interference in dealing with spies and traitors is an unfriendly act.

Gregory Weinstein, who signed the soviet reply, pointed out that he received an appeal from Irish republican leaders, which charged Britain with responsibility for the execution of political prisoners in Ireland.

"In view of such incidents in Ireland, India and Egypt, the Russian government is unable to receive the appeal of the British government in the name of humanity," Weinstein stated.

MOSCOW, April 2.—(By Associated Press).—The death sentence imposed on Vicar General Butkevitch has not yet been carried out. It was announced at noon today.

STANFORD SENDS RALLY TO PLAY

A final rallying call was sent today to the Stanford alumni of the Eastbay cities to join in the reunion and theater party to be held tomorrow night in the Franklin theater.

While the scheduled production of "Rough Road," with Douglas Fairbanks in the titular role, will be the main attraction, it is to be essentially Stanford night, according to Dr. Sam Downing, president of the Stanford Men's club.

The theater party is being given under the auspices of the Stanford alumni in order to raise sufficient funds to establish a scholarship fund for women students of the Eastbay cities.

Between acts there will be old-time student rallies with "Tommy" Thompson, former Stanford yell leader, performing as in his undergraduate days. Members of the Stanford Glee Club will sing the university songs, and there will be other stunts that the committee in charge of the affair are keeping for a surprise.

Tickets purchased from Stanford alumni will be honored at the theater tomorrow afternoon for the benefit of all those unable to attend the evening performance.

Girl, 7, With Nickel Hidden In Elopement

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—"One nickel for Detroit, please."

A small voice lisped the words through the grating window of the ticket office at the Santa Fe station here.

A tiny hand placed a nickel on the window ledge.

Eleanor Kordalsky, 7, told the ticket agent her "man," who she said was about her age, was waiting for her in Detroit.

She had a tiny handbag containing two dresses and other equipment for her long trip. She said she told her mother she was leaving for Detroit and that her mother kissed her goodbye and gave her the nickel with which to get her ticket. A police matron took Eleanor back to her home.

MASTER MURDER TRIAL NEAR END

SANTA CRUZ, April 2.—John R. Master, charged with the murder of his wife on the night of February 22, sang a sad whistle in his cell in the Santa Cruz county jail during his wife's funeral, declared John W. Dobbins, another jail inmate, on the witness stand.

Master, previously asked whether he had acted in such a manner on the afternoon his wife was buried, said he could not remember.

The only important witness called to the stand today was Dr. Percy Phillips, who was summoned to the Master home when Mrs. Master's body was found. He testified to the number and variety of wounds upon the dead woman's head, declaring his belief a number of blows would have to be inflicted to cause them. He said the weapon found at the Master home could have produced the character of wounds he found.

This afternoon the jury will be taken to view the scene of the crime. It is possible the evidence will be concluded today and arguments begin tomorrow.

Water District Candidates Can File Up to April 3

Through discovery of a Supreme Court ruling, it was announced today by County Clerk George Gross that candidates for directors of the proposed Public Utilities Water district have until 5 o'clock tomorrow, April 3, to file official notice of their candidacy.

Former announcement that the time for candidates to file expired March 28 was based on the election laws. This was found to be erroneous as a Supreme court ruling in volume 151, California reports, decrees that candidates for directors of water districts have until April 3 to file.

D. OF P. TO GIVE WHIST.
A joint whist party will be held in W. O. V. Hall, East Fourteenth street and Fruitvale avenue, Wednesday evening, under the auspices of Larube Council No. 46, D. of P., and Ah-Wah-Nee Tribe No. 56. Dancing will be enjoyed after the game.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to thoroughly scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

working for the people of the United States."

By GEORGE R. HOLMES International News Service Staff Correspondent.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 2.—President Harding is planning a frank appeal to the country to support the foreign policy of the administration. It was learned here today. A considerable portion of the speeches which he will deliver on his western tour this summer will be devoted to a vigorous foreign policies which have been pursued for the last two years. Harding will not appear in the role of an apologist, but rather an apostle of achievement, and appeal to those who are concerned with mapping his trip and his program.

In the Far East, the achievements of the Washington armament conference, and the four power pact guaranteeing the peace of the Pacific, will be held up as epochal accomplishments and having prevented possible war with Japan.

In Latin America, the recent Central American conference will be pointed to as a tremendous step in the direction of permanent peace in this hemisphere. American mediation of the dispute between Peru and Chile and between Spain and Morocco will be dealt upon in this connection. The European policy of the administration is looked upon by the president's advisers as being simple of presentation. The president will simply state that conditions in Europe have been such as to preclude American intervention without becoming hopelessly entangled in world politics.

Harding was on the last lap of his vacation this week.

Ten MILLIONS a DAY

Recently we have asked a number of executives if they would employ a good man at a monthly wage based on one cent the first day, two the second and so on, doubling the amount daily during the month.

In almost every case the answer has been, "Yes, if a good man would be foolish enough to work that way."

But, when the proposition is figured through, the salary for the thirty-first day alone would be over $10,000,000, enough to bankrupt any one of the employers questioned.

These business men made the mistake of underestimating the possible growth of a sum so small as a penny.

It is the same mistake made by numbers of people in figuring the possibilities of depositing small sums in savings accounts bearing 4% compound interest.

Money bearing compound interest—like the penny salary—increases slowly at first but the rate of increase becomes so rapid that it mocks all power of imagination.

Do not try to imagine what small deposits made regularly will amount to over a given period. Come in to The American Bank near where you live or work and let us tell you what you can save.

WILD SCRAMBLE FOR STATE'S OIL LEASES FORESEEN

Norwalk Hospital Lands Are Held Rich Prize; Companies Seek Contract.

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK.
TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, April 2.—There will be a wild scramble for the privilege to lease from the state 150 acres of oil lands surrounding the State Hospital at Norwalk, it was today indicated by Assemblyman Charles Foster of Fresno county, chairman of the oil industries committee of the assembly.

Foster states that a large party of financiers and oil operators is coming to Sacramento from San Francisco and Los Angeles tomorrow, some of whom will urge on the committee that the oil-bearing acres be leased to one large oil company, whereas others will demand that the 150 acres be not leased as one unit, but that they shall be divided up for that purpose in units of 25 acres and 10 acres.

OPINIONS ON CONFLICT.
The leasing of these lands, as provided for in a bill introduced by Senator Ebert J. Gates, chairman of the finance committee of the Senate, comes up for consideration of the committee Tuesday afternoon. According to general report and also according to Willard Badham of the Assembly, who is an expert on oil matters, these lands will prove to be some of the richest yet exploited, but there is also an opinion which is not so optimistic, and which declares that probably only 25 acres of the entire area will be found to be oil producing.

It is that, as it may, there is no doubt that every oil interest in the state has its eyes on the lease, and that the largest company of all will be there when the time comes to put in bids.

Under the Gates bill, the Norwalk property would be leased on a royalty basis, which would insure to the state a pro rata share of the oil profits produced by the field. The actual lease of the land is left to the sense of "good business" of the members of the State Board of Control.

Among those who will address the oil industries committee on the matter next Tuesday will be Ray Benjamin and Frank F. Merriam, speaker of the assembly, it is announced.

Speaker Merriam will urge that full liberty of action shall be given the board of control in the matter. It is held by some that it will be more advantageous to the state to lease the entire acreage to one large and responsible company, instead of to several small but hopeful concerns.

On the other hand it is pointed out by the legislature that all appearance of "favoritism" will have to be carefully excluded.

HOSPITAL TO REMAIN.
The State Hospital at Norwalk is to remain on the spot, it is believed, notwithstanding the fact that several medical men have expressed an opinion that the drilling and other industrial operations caused by oil operations, cannot fail to interfere with the comfort and wellbeing of the patients. A contrary opinion, however, is said to have been obtained from the medical directors of the hospital itself.

In this connection the oil industries committee will also consider at tomorrow's meeting, a bill which would prohibit drilling machines from operating within a distance of 500 feet of cemeteries, churches, schools and hospitals.

To this, it is said, there will be a strong opposition from the south, on account of the fact that throughout the oil country there are numerous institutions so located, and the bill would remove too extended an acreage from exploitation.

HIGHWAY BOND PLAN.
Assemblyman Charles A. Foster announced an amendment to his highway construction bill, which calls for a $20,000,000 bond issue in 1924. The amendment would establish three highway zones, one for Northern California, one for the Central part of the state, and one for the South. Each zone would appoint an advisory commission of fifty engineers, supervisors and other experts, whose duties it would be to consult with the members of the State Highway Commission on the work to be done within the zone.

REAPPORTIONMENT AGAIN.
Among matters that are expected to come up for discussion in the assembly this week is, next to reapportionment and the reconsideration of the bill limiting candidates for political office to "one-party" tickets, also the anti-capital punishment bill of Assemblyman Roy Pelton of San Francisco. It is the same fate as that which overtook it in the 1921 Legislature, when it was decisively defeated. However, supporters of the measure are fairly numerous.

The jury-change bill, according to which verdicts may be returned in criminal cases by a vote of three-quarters of the membership of a jury, except in those cases involving the death penalty, also comes up for discussion in the Assembly. The bill was carried through the Senate in the face of determined opposition, and is expected to meet with even stronger opposition in the Assembly.

CHAPLIN NEMESIS TAKES 'POISON,' GOES TO HOSPITAL

Girl Ejected From Home of Film Comedian Comes From Mexico.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
HOLLYWOOD, April 2.—A young woman saying she is 15 years old, and claiming acquaintance with General Francisco Serrano, Mexican minister of war, and Pedro J. Almada, inspector general of police in Mexico City, interested police surgeons and newspaper men Saturday night with declarations of having swallowed poison after having been ejected from the home of Charlie Chaplin, movie actor. She gave the name of Mrs. Marina Vega, of Mexico City.

While no traces of poison were found, the movie comedian, in whose automobile she was taken to the receiving hospital for treatment, told of several entrances effected to his house by the girl through ruses, and of her being put out by his Japanese servant.

Her story was of infatuation with the comedian through seeing his pictures in Mexico City, and unsuccessful attempts to see him at the studio, followed by gaining entrance to his residence while he was out and remaining in his rooms until discovered there by a Japanese servant when the comedian returned with Pola Negri, his fiancée, and a physician. The girl was induced to leave after a brief talk with Chaplin, but returned a second time, and after being put out said she purchased poison at a nearby drug store and again effected an entrance.

Induced to enter an automobile, she collapsed, and was taken back into the house, saying she had eaten poison. She was rushed to the receiving hospital, but after treatment surgeons placed a question mark on the hospital chart.

Copies of messages addressed to General Serrano and Inspector Almada, appealing for funds, were found in her possession.

Efforts were being made today to determine whether what police say was a feigned attempt at suicide in reality was but a move for publicity as an aid to getting a film position on the part of the young woman.

K. K. MEETS AT CRAGMONT.
BERKELEY, April 2.—Following a gathering of masked men at University and Shattuck avenues last evening, an alleged Ku Klux Klan celebration was held at Cragmont Rock in North Berkeley.

As a part of the celebration, a wooden cross was set on fire by the maskers and burned. A woman resident in the neighborhood turned in an alarm, to which the fire department responded.

The police had been notified previously of the gathering, but took no action on the matter.

U. C. STUDENTS TO HEAR DR. CADMAN

Dr. Paul F. Cadman, president of the American Field Service Association, who lately has returned from France, will address the students of the University of California Friday. Dr. Cadman, who is a member of the faculty of the class of 1916, is traveling about the United States in the interests of the association, which is establishing fellowships for American students in French universities.

Thursday evening he will be entertained by the general advisory committee of the Pacific Coast department of the association at a dinner in San Francisco. Charles Mills Gayley of the University of California will preside, and Cyrus Peirce will be the principal speaker. About one hundred persons, including prominent members of the French colony of San Francisco will be present.

After addressing the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco Friday noon, Dr. Cadman will leave for Los Angeles, where he will speak before the colleges and clubs of that city.

PRISON SENTENCE OF JUNGLE KING IS DECIDED VOID

Once in Jeopardy Rule of Law Wins Freedom for Hugh Newell.

The "once in jeopardy" rule of the common law has saved Hugh Newell, alias Bruce Vincent Douglas, self-styled soldier of fortune and "Brazilian jungle king," from having to serve out the one-to-fourteen years' sentence imposed upon him by Superior Judge George Samuels last summer for the alleged passing of fictitious checks. A peremptory order for the release of Newell was issued today by the District Court of Appeal in San Francisco.

The decision of the court was based upon the fact that the original complaint issued against Newell contained an error, charging him with having issued a fictitious personal check, whereas the check in question was that of the New Ellen Potash and Chemical company.

The error was not discovered until Newell's trial had started. The jury was instructed to find for acquittal, Newell was released, tried under a corrected complaint, convicted, and on June 26 was sentenced to San Quentin for from one to fourteen years.

Newell's attorneys appealed the case on the ground that the interrupted trial had placed him "once in jeopardy." This contention was today sustained by the Appellate Court. Since sentence was passed upon him last June, Newell has been in las," and who was granted a divorce from him.

Do your feet give out in the afternoon?

PROBABLY there is nothing the matter with your feet, but soon after you put on your shoes, they begin to tire. Why? Nature planned the foot to have three points of contact with the ground—heel, ball and outside arch. But in raising the heel from the ground, the arch is left without a firm support. Your weight bearing down on the unsupported arch strains it.

The Arch Preserver Shoe raises the heel and arch from the ground, thus giving the foot the stylish appearance you desire; but unlike shoes with bending arches, it has a concealed built-in arch-bridge that supports the arch. Though shod in the latest fashion, your feet are free from strain all through the longest, hardest day when you wear Arch Preserver Shoes.

Nature plans that the foot has a ball, heel and outside arch.
Circulation demands that heel and arch be raised.
The Arch Preserver Shoe raises the heel and arch.

DOCTORS DOUBT

SLAYING OF BOYS

SAN BERNARDINO, April 2.—The verdict at today's inquest into the deaths of Dean Meacham, 4, and Mickey Jensen, 5, whose bodies were found trapped in a wooden showcase here last Friday, will either verify the theory that the boys in play accidentally locked themselves in their strange death vault, or will support the idea, still held by many that an abductor after drowning little Dean put his little victims away in the box.

Physicians who held post mortems were of the opinion today that the death in both cases was the result of suffocation and starvation. The water which the undertaker discovered in the wooden showcase was believed by Doctors W. D. Lanier, R. W. Prince and W. S. Tyng, who performed the autopsy, to be a natural result of exhaustion.

Physicians explained the boy's dazed clothing and coat on shoe eyelets by saying that it was probably caused by perspiration during the long, agonizing struggle of the boys during the week they spent in the death box. This explanation has not satisfied the father of Dean Meacham or many others.

A motion picture screen with the surface embossed in small squares has been designed to make a picture clearly visible from all angles.

Miss Treadwell To Be Bride of Bennett Acker

MISS MARION McCREARY, whose marriage to Stanford H. Brown will take place tomorrow evening in the First Presbyterian church in Berkeley.—Boye Photo.

The newest engagements among the younger set is that of Miss Verabelle Treadwell and Bennett Nicholas Acker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Alexander Acker of Vernon Heights.

Cards announcing the same were received in this morning's mail by a large number of the younger set. Miss Treadwell is the daughter of Mrs. E. M. Treadwell and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Foster, of Vernon Heights. She is one of the attractive younger girls of East-bay society.

Bennett Acker is a Stanford man and is now completing his law course at Hastings. Later he will be associated with his father, N. A. Acker, in law across the bay.

He is a brother of Mrs. Thomas Bunker (Helen Acker) of this city and a nephew of Robert Bennett, of Piedmont, and cousin of Miss Katherine and Miss Julia Bennett.

More than eighty invitations have been extended for a luncheon and bridge at the hotel Oakland by the four lovely daughters of Milton H. Robbins, of Fairmont avenue, the Misses Sally, Esther, Isabel and Adelaide Robbins. The guest list will include friends from all of the bay cities, the affair to be given Saturday, April 6.

Spring will mark the departure of almost as many travelers from overseas, as the return of those touring other lands than their own. It was a surprise to many friends this week when Mr. and Mrs. Paul Delano Cadman (Ethel Mills) arrived from France, Saturday and are domiciled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cadman of Alameda. They will remain however, but ten days here, continuing their travels, as Cadman is working for the $1,000,000 scholarship fund which will enable former service men to have the same advantages which he has enjoyed in the past, from the American Field Service. Cadman is pledged for six months effort in the raising of funds for the cause.

Paul Cadman is to be the speaker at the University meeting which is to be held Friday, April 6 in Harmon Gymnasium. His subject of discourse will be the American Field Service Campaign to be held here soon. Cadman received his Degree of State Doctor of Laws by the French Government.

Mrs. Cadman is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Mills James McVicker Mills of Berkeley and is a sister of Mrs. Frederick Lewis Shanks and Miss Margaret Mills.

BRIDGE EVENING FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

In honor of her future daughter-in-law, Miss Mildred Cook, fiancée of Ralph Stevenson Lorimer, Mrs. John Lorimer of this city will be hostess at a bridge tea April 14 at the Hotel Oakland.

Friday evening, April 13, the Misses Mildred and Carol Cook, daughters of Mrs. John Cook, are to entertain at the Peralta apartment in honor of Miss Dorothy Wiering, twenty-five guests will share their hospitality, bridge to be the pleasure of the evening.

RECEPTION AT EASTON HOME

The home of Mrs. Giles Nelson Easton in Jackson street was the scene of a large reception this afternoon at which the hostess received more than three hundred guests from both sides of the bay. Spring blossoms adorned the drawing rooms and intimate friends assisted in receiving.

PARTIES FOR EASTER WEEK

Parties for the sub-debutante set are to interest many this week. Mrs. Robert Augustus Gray is planning an Easter luncheon Saturday for a group of friends of Miss Mary Ann Sutro daughter of the Oscar Sutros.

Tomorrow Miss Frances Kehrein is to entertain at bridge and mah jong at the Claremont Country club. And on Saturday Mrs. Ashton Potter of San Francisco will be hostess at tea at her home for the future debutante.

Not many weeks will pass before the return of the Whipple Malls from Manila where they have been for a number of years. Their young daughter Miss Ann Hall is a student at Miss Ramsom's. Mrs. Hall will be remembered as Miss Ethel Crellin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Hall of this city with whom they will visit during their sojourn about the bay.

Carnation Home Cooking Lessons

This new series of lessons on milk cookery will appear weekly. Mrs. Blake's counsel will be helpful and stimulating, because of her practical experience in home cooking. She will answer any question on cookery asked by her readers. Address Mrs. Mary Blake, care Carnation Milk Products Co., Stuart Building, Seattle, Washington.

LESSON 4 — 1923 Series

Easy Ways to Serve Fish and Meats

HAPPY is the housewife who can get away from the customary fried or baked meats and produce savory dishes that are both easily digested and tempting to the appetites of her family.

In this lesson I am going to suggest several delightful ways in which fish or meats can be enriched in flavor and made more nutritious by the addition of sauces or by special methods of cooking.

One of the first steps is the preparation of a white sauce, either thick or thin. Here are quick, simple recipes:

White Sauce

For thin white sauce take 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter or substitute, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk. Melt butter or butter substitute, add flour and stir until thoroughly mixed. Add the milk and cook about five minutes or until the mixture thickens, and add seasonings. This recipe makes one cup sauce.

Thick white sauce is made just the same way, except use twice the flour (4 tablespoons) and these sauces can be used in a variety of ways in preparing either fish or meats.

Fish Croquettes

2 cups cold cooked fish, 1 cup thick white sauce, salt and pepper. Pull fish apart in small pieces, using a fork. Season with salt and pepper and add to thick white sauce; then put on a plate to cool. Shape, roll in crumbs, then in slightly beaten egg and again in bread crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Drain and garnish with parsley. This recipe serves six people.

Creamed Salmon

2 cups salmon, 2 cups thin white sauce; flake the fish, add to hot thin white sauce and serve on toast. This recipe serves six people.

Baked Hash

1/2 cup fat, 1 1/2 cups meat, 3 cups mashed potatoes, onion juice, salt and pepper, chopped parsley. Grind the cooked meat and season. Melt one tablespoon fat in a baking dish. Mix the ingredients well, moisten with Carnation Milk diluted with water, put in the oiled baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven until brown on top. This recipe serves six people.

Fish Souffle

3 cups fish, 1 1/2 cups thin white sauce, parsley and 2 eggs beaten separately.

(Copy and paste this lesson in your cook book. If you have missed any previous lesson, I will be glad to send it to you on request.)

Flake the cooked fish and season. Cool the thin white sauce, add the fish, then the well-beaten yolks and mix. Fold in the whites of eggs beaten stiff. Bake in buttered individual baking dishes or in a pudding dish set in a pan of hot water. Bake twenty minutes, or until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. This recipe serves six people.

Creamed Chipped Beef

1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, 1 cup water, 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 pound chipped beef. Melt the butter, add flour, stirring constantly until thoroughly blended. Add the liquid, salt and pepper. Let boil until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add beef and continue cooking until beef is heated through. Turn onto a hot platter and garnish with toast points. This recipe will serve four people.

Questions and Answers

Is there any sugar used in making Carnation Milk? Mrs. T. M. B.
No; Carnation is just pure cow's milk evaporated until about half the water is removed. Nothing is added.

Can you tell me the proper way to set a table? Mrs. B. W. S.

Full directions for this will be found on the inside cover of the book, "One Hundred Tested Recipes," which will be sent free to you on request.

Why do you call Carnation the milk "from contented cows"?—Mrs. J. M. C.

In the earliest days of its manufacture it was determined that only high-grade milk from dairies which conformed to certain regulations in their care of cows, was sufficiently good to be used in making Carnation Milk. Where these rules for the care and feeding of cows are observed, the animals could not help but be contented, and it is a well-known fact that under such conditions a cow will give more and better milk.

Scientific Starch Discovery Penetrates and Preserves Fabrics

EVERY woman knows that one of the greatest annoyances is working with starch that forms a thick, sticky jelly the moment it is cool. This heavy, pasty starch clots and smears your fabrics, and often causes your iron to stick.

All this trouble has now been overcome with Lint, the new scientific starch. Lint is an improvement in Laundry Starch. It remains a fluid for a long time after it cools. This prevents it from clotting or smearing the fabric, and permits the thin paste of Lint to be carried to every thread of your fabric.

This reinforces the strength of your material, prolongs its life, helps prevent wear and adds new lustre to your old fabrics, making them look as fresh as when they first came from the store.

You will be surprised and delighted with the wonderful new lustre your table cloths and napkins will have after being starched with Lint. Use Lint for every kind of fabric — whether lawn, linen, cotton, gingham, lace or curtains.

Go to your grocer today and ask for Lint.

Lint is made by the Corn Products Refining Company, 17 Battery Place, New York — makers of the Famous Argo and Kingford's Starches — Kaffee Syrup and Mucic Salad and Cooking Oil.

$5000-in Prizes for Users of Valspar

Nearly everybody knows about Valspar and millions are using it. This wonderful waterproof varnish has proved its worth and quality under circumstances and conditions that are nothing short of amazing.

Thousands of unsolicited letters have reached us from people wishing to relate unusual Valspar experiences. These letters furnish overwhelming testimony of Valspar's marvelous durability and its astonishing resistance to water, heat, acids, alkalis.

And we are convinced that thousands of other Valspar users have had experiences just as interesting. We want to know of these incidents. Accordingly we are offering several thousand dollars in cash prizes for letters telling of experiences with Valspar.

For Instance

In order that you may understand exactly what we have in mind, we give below as examples, some experiences that Valspar users have already told us about.

1. C. K. Perry of Marshfield, Oregon, wrote about a Valsparred dining room table which as the result of a fire last July, was drenched with water mixed with lime and charcoal. The under part of the table (which was not Valsparred) turned white as snow—the Valsparred top, after being washed, was found to be unharmed and in perfect condition.
2. Miss Pauline Dixon of Pueblo, Colo., R. F. D. No. 2, tells us about a Valsparred taboret which was washed away in the great Pueblo flood. Three weeks later, when the water receded, a boy found the taboret, almost buried in mud on the river bank six miles from her home. When wiped off the Valsparred surface was as good as new.
3. Mr. John R. Cotter of Essexville, Mich., tells how a broken radiator-valve flooded his Valsparred floors with live steam and scalding hot water. He thought the floors would be ruined, but when the water was mopped up he was amazed to find the woodwork undamaged, with the Valspar just as bright and clear as before.
4. During a tropical hurricane in Mobile, Alabama, the chimneys and roof of R. Randolph's home were badly damaged—black sooty water literally flooded the house. In writing us about the incident Mr. Randolph said that although some days elapsed before the house could be dried out, the floors and woodwork protected with Valspar were just as good as ever.
5. Mr. J. H. Audibert, of Fort Kent, Maine, devised an interesting test for Valspar Varnish-Stains. He varnished four axe-handles, each with a different Varnish-Stain including one with Valspar Varnish-Stain. He writes: "The cheapest stain looked all right and dried quicker, but after putting all the handles in a pail of ashes mixed with boiling water, I found the Valspar was the only one that stood the test and the others went to pieces."
6. One stormy day last November, Mrs. J. B. Kirk, of Hackensack, N. J., had to leave her car out in the driving rain and sleet. (Fortunately, her husband had put 2 coats of Valspar Enamel on it the Spring before.) "After the storm," she writes, "it looked like an iceberg and I thought the finish would be ruined. But the ice and water didn't hurt it at all and today the car looks as fine as when the enamel was first put on. Our garage man marvels at it, because his own car, which he refinished with another make of varnish about the same time ours was done, looks so shabby and dull."

Unique Qualities of Valspar

Valspar is made in three forms—Valspar Clear Varnish, Valspar Colored Enamels and Valspar Colored Varnish-Stains. All of these can be freely washed with hot water and soap; they never turn white; they resist the action of acids, alkalis and oils. They are very durable; they don't chip, crack or peel. They dry in any weather—dust-free in two hours and hard in twenty-four.

About the Uses of Valspar

Clear Valspar is, of course, used for finishing floors, all kinds of indoor and outdoor woodwork, furniture, boats, refrigerators, linoleum, and for the many other uses of varnish.

Valspar Varnish-Stains possess the same qualities as clear Valspar, but you stain and varnish with one stroke of the brush. They come in six permanent colors—Mahogany, Light and Dark Oak, Cherry, Walnut and Moss Green. Absolutely waterproof and very durable, they are unequalled for finishing floors, front doors, porch furniture, and all other woodwork that requires staining.

Valspar Enamels answer the need for a really waterproof enamel. They are made from the finest pigments carefully ground in clear Valspar thus combining Valspar durability with exceptional beauty of color.

Valspar Enamels are absolutely unsurpassed as an automobile finish and for wood, metal and all other surfaces where enamel is used. They come in 12 standard colors,—Red—light and deep, Vermilion, Blue—light, medium and deep, Green—medium and deep, Ivory, Bright Yellow, Gray, and Brown. Also in Black, White, Gold, Bronze, Aluminum and Flat Black.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

What Can You Tell Us?

If you know an instance where any (or all) of these three forms of Valspar has proved its durability and waterproofness under unusually severe conditions of wear, or under some extraordinary circumstance, we ask you to write us about it. And if you have photographs which add interest to your story we will be glad to receive them.

If you know of several instances, tell us about them all. It makes no difference which form of Valspar has been used—it makes no difference what kind of a Valsparred surface it is. Just tell us the facts.

Requirements and Prizes

There are no restrictions, no intricate qualifications. Write your letter in ink and use only one side of the paper. These are the only requirements—with the understanding, of course, that the incident told about actually occurred prior to the first announcement of this contest. And that we shall be allowed to use for publicity purposes as we see fit any letters submitted.

$500 will be awarded to the contestant who sends the letter that the judges agree is the most interesting of all. 5 prizes of $100 to those whose letters stand next in interest—ten $50 prizes, one hundred $10 prizes, and two hundred $5 prizes will also be distributed—more than three hundred (300) prizes in all.

The judges of the contest will be Mr. Lawrence F. Abbott, President of The Outlook; Miss Martha E. Dodson, Associate Editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, Miss Gertrude B. Lane, Editor of the Woman's Home Companion.

We suggest that letters do not run more than 250 words in length, but if the incident requires more words, do not let this suggestion limit you. Length of the letters or literary style will have no bearing on the award of prizes. We want just the facts of your experience.

Address your communications to Valentine & Company, Prize Contest Department, 456 Fourth Ave., New York, New York.

All letters must be received by April 30th, 1923. The list of prize winners will be announced as soon as the judges have had sufficient time to make careful unprejudiced selections.

Write Your Experience Now

Let us hear what you know about Valspar. Don't consider your experience as too trifling or commonplace, write us about it. Not everybody can relate a startling occurrence, and it's more than likely many of the prizes will be won by simple, matter-of-fact stories.

Don't let this chance slip by. A few minutes spent in writing your letter gives you a splendid chance to win a substantial prize. Send us your story. Send it today!

Special Dealer Window Display Contest

In addition to the contest described above, which is open to everyone, including all dealers, there will be distributed to dealers only for photographs of the best Window Displays of any or all of the following—Valspar, Valspar Varnish-Stain and Valspar Enamel. It will be necessary to send us a photograph, of course (an 8 x 10 glossy print is best). Also write us a brief letter telling us anything of interest about the display. Only those dealers who have Valspar in stock or have ordered same at the time of the first announcement of the contest are eligible.

$1500 in Prizes

Prizes will be awarded as follows: First prize $250; 5 prizes of $100 each; 5, $50 prizes; 10, $10 prizes, and 80, $5 prizes—101 prizes in all. All letters and photos must be received by April 30th, 1923.

Can You Title This Unnamed Cartoon?

Please observe these rules carefully in competing for the title prize. Violation of any of these conditions will disqualify your entry.

Answers must be written on post-cards. No entries in envelopes will be received.

Titles must be written on the long way of the card. That is, from left to right, in the same direction as the address on the opposite side.

Answers must be mailed. No cards will be received in person at The TRIBUNE office. This rule is made necessary in the event of two winning titles coming for the same cartoon, when the first postmark must be the determining factor.

Titles must be addressed to Title Editor, OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

Titles must not exceed twelve words in length.

They must reach The OAKLAND TRIBUNE by Thursday night following the Monday the picture is published.

One person may send in as many titles as he wishes, but only two on one postcard.

Postcards must bear only the title and the name and address and no message whatsoever.

A $10 prize will be awarded to the winner each week.

Winners will be announced each Sunday.

S. F. CONVENTION

FIGHT WINS AID

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The announcement that San Francisco "has her hat in the ring" for both the Republican and Democratic national conventions next year, is arousing favorable comment throughout the entire country, according to J. Ogden Armour, head of the Armour packing interests, who is at the Palace Hotel on a vacation trip.

Armour said that in view of the attitude of the rest of the country toward the proposal, and San Francisco's record as a "go-getter," he would not be at all surprised to see both the 1924 conventions "landed by this city."

His views were shared by H. R. Tammen, one of the owners of the Denver "Post," who is with the Armour party. If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

Home Craft Week at The Curtain Store

The 17th Semi-Annual Home Craft Week starts today, and we have stocked some of the most beautiful novelties for this occasion that we have ever shown.

Fibre Silk Gauze

The trade name for this material is "silk" gauze, but we give it its right name so that there will be no misunderstanding. It is an unusually fine quality, with a brilliant sheen. Suitable for window curtains, French doors and sunbursts.

Full 50 inches wide

In gold, natural and champagne. Our purchase of a large quantity of this material enables us to make a very low price, and we offer it for

$2.00 yard

Be sure to see this beautiful material.

Filet Grandee—The aristocrat of Filets

In plain champagne, champagne with gold, blue and rose filet.

In addition to these two beautiful novelties we have a large and varied stock of all lace and nets, Orinoka Sunfast Materials, etc.

Probably the most remarkable fabric ever produced by other than entire hand work. Possesses all the effect of the soft yarn, big mesh antique Italian Filet. Extremely decorative and durable.

NAVY AIRPLANES TO MAKE FLIGHT FROM SAN DIEGO

Demonstration of Defense Will Be Made at Crissy Field.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—A demonstration of aerial defense on the Pacific Coast will be made soon when six torpedo planes in charge of Commander R. A. Berg, U. S. N., will arrive at Crissy Flying Field from San Diego. This will be the first inter-city flight undertaken by planes of this type.

In connection with the defensive plans being perfected by the Navy Department, Lieutenants B. H. Wyatt and F. M. Schoeffel, accompanied by Chief Machinist's Mate Frank Linden and Chief Photographer P. A. McDonough, who arrived at Crissy Flying Field from San Diego last Friday, are now at Mare Island about to begin a series of investigations in the bay region with a view to the expansion of naval aerial activities here.

The torpedo planes, now being overhauled for the trip up the coast, are equipped with 525-horsepower engines, weighing 1100 pounds and so designed that they can be produced in immense quantities in time of war.

The torpedo planes have a purpose primarily defensive but naval officials explain that the best form of defense is aggression. In connection with the development of aerial defense in this vicinity, Major General Mason Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service, will arrive in San Francisco within the next three weeks.

Berkeley Woman Hit By S. P. Train

May Kancas, a Berkeley woman, 45 years of age, today was brought to the Oakland Emergency hospital suffering from injuries which she received when she was struck by a Southern Pacific train.

The accident happened in Berkeley and the train crew picked up the injured woman and brought her to Oakland. The injured woman is suffering from lacerations of the forehead, left leg and right hand. Several ribs on the right side are believed to be fractured.

French Players Will Appear at U. C.

BERKELEY, April 2.—Under the joint auspices of the Greek theater management and the university's French department, Andre Ferrier and his company, from the French Playhouse in San Francisco, will present "Le Voyage de M. Perrichon" in Wheeler auditorium on Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Ferrier will play the role of Perrichon. Other parts will be taken by Raymond Le Breton, M. Rolly, H. Putzert, A. Frediani, Gustave Lechton, X. Mercier, Yvonne du Parth and Madeline Gray.

6 Auto Bandits Capture Mail in St. Louis Street

$2000 Haul Is Made in Early Morning; Similar Crime in Springfield, Ill.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—(By The Associated Press)—Nine pouches of registered mail were obtained today in a holdup of a mail truck in the business district by five auto bandits here. Police asserted it was the boldest robbery in the city's history. The mail was for delivery to large business firms, including banks, and brokerage houses. Postal officials explained the amount of money and valuables obtained could not be ascertained until the records of registry were checked.

Chief Postoffice Inspector Reuter later declared that a hurried checkup showed there were 22 registered letters in the pouches and indications were that their value would not exceed $2,000. The bandits escaped.

After loading the pouches in their automobile, the bandits locked Edward M. Cunningham, chauffeur of the mail truck, and Adrian M. Dorlac, his guard, in the steel-plated truck. They were released later by a negro passer-by. Both were armed.

The truck was conveying the registered mail from the main postoffice to a substation at the Eads bridge.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 2.—(By Universal Service.)—Mail bandits fought a battle with guards and police here yesterday and escaped from the Chicago and Alton railroad depot with six bags of mail. One bandit was captured. More than fifty shots were exchanged.

James Harney, driving a mail truck, entered the depot from the postoffice with a load of mail shortly before 1 a. m. He left his truck and started for the baggage room, when the bandit car raced up. Six men, armed, sprang out.

Harney made a move to escape, the two shotguns were discharged over his head. As two automobiles loaded with patrolmen dashed to the depot the bandits loaded the mail in their car and sped away, exchanging shots with the officers.

The bandits' automobile was found abandoned a short distance from the city and the six bags of mail were found in a barn. Only half the letters had been opened.

The captured bandit was identified as Byron J. Shelton, a notorious mail robber, long connected with the "Egan rats," a band of St. Louis bandits.

FIRE ALARM

The Oakland Fire department responded to three alarms in the 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning. The location, name of the occupant, origin and the amount of damage follow:

Still alarm, 783 Twentieth street, L. Kelley, chimney; no damage.

Still alarm, 84 Rio Vista, Mrs. L. Lindsey, chimney; damage, $125.

Box 481, 1518-24 East Twelfth street, Rex Dyeing & Cleaning Works, dry room; damage $350.

Electric Signs Will Boost Cherry Fete

SAN LEANDRO, April 2.—(By The Associated Press)—A community purchase of two large electric signs, bearing the words "San Leandro the Cherry City—Welcome," to be installed at each entrance to the city on East Fourteenth street, according to a report to the Chamber of Commerce. The expense would be $2,000, part of which has been offered.

NEWEST IN FASHIONS FULLY DISCUSSED

"I see you are studying spring styles in that new magazine, Grace. What do you think of Dame Fashion's decree for this season?"

"Well, Dame Fashion is a capricious lady, but I don't know when I have approved her choice of fashions more than this spring."

"I agree with you. The slightly longer skirts are graceful and the long lines and front draperies are so becoming. And what do you think of these new fabrics? Intricate designs on neutral backgrounds seem to be the very newest thing."

"Oh, I love them. Such striking color combinations, too. And, my dear, I am in love with that new shade, Lavin green it is called. I know that it would be becoming to me, and I am dying for a dress of it. It reminds me of a garden in summer."

"Goodness, aren't you poetic? But you're right at that. It is a lovely shade, and with your golden hair, dear, you would be stunning in that color."

"Well, to be modest, I should like it myself. There is only one thing about the new spring styles that doesn't please me wholly."

"Goodness, what do you dislike?"

"The fact that I have so little money to spend. I need several things now and can't afford much."

"Oh, don't let that distress you. Go to Cherry's at 528 13th street. They have such adorable spring garments and they are glad to let you open an account."

Cherry's store for men is at 528 13th street.—Advertisement.

And then she learned the secret

To her, all coffee was much the same. First she bought one kind, then another.

One evening, she and her husband were at a hotel famous for its cuisine. Coffee was served.

"What wonderful coffee," she remarked. "I wonder what kind it is?"

"It's M-J-B Coffee" the waiter answered. "We've been using it for eighteen years."

Then and there, she learned the se-

Bebe Daniels Captivates in Her New Film at American Theater

BEBE DANIELS, as the beautiful actress in "The World's Applause," or "Notoriety," the William De Mille production now playing at the American Theater. It is a story of a stage beauty who succumbed to innocent indiscretion because of her craving for notoriety.

Powerful Program Enhanced by Appearance of Reginald Denny in "The Leather Pushers."

Rumors of scandal, frequently baseless, have been the stumbling blocks to many a brilliant stage career, and it is a device, from the other side of the footlights that is exploited by beautiful Bebe Daniels in her latest production, "The World's Applause," or "Notoriety," which is at the American theater this week.

Miss Daniels, who has graduated from the screen, is the star of a recent series of brilliant dramatic characterizations, has a splendidly adapted vehicle in "The World's Applause."

This production was directed by William De Mille, and supporting Miss Daniels is Lewis Stone, a star of both screen and legitimate stage. The story is powerful and well told. Round Blown of "The Leather Pushers," with Reginald Denny and other film features, are offered on the same bill, as well as the popular concert by Owen Sweeten and his orchestra, who are featuring several local parodies written by Swetten on the Ziegfeld Follies hit, "Gallagher and Shean."

"The World's Applause" is presented at 11:30, 1:30, 3:30, 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30.—Advertisement.

WATER DIRECTORS WILL SPEND BIG SUM FOR SUPPLY

Financial Letter of Oakland Bank Tells Importance of April 8 Election.

Directors of the public utility district, who are to be elected May 8, will be called upon to expend from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, as in the past, from time to time, competent engineers having estimated the cost of obtaining an adequate water supply at figures varying between these two amounts, according to the March business and financial letter of the Oakland Bank, made public today.

Estimates by various engineers differ with the source of supply and the quantity of water suggested.

A definite figure of cost cannot be arrived at until the source of supply is agreed upon, the latter states, and "until it is determined how far into the future we project our plans at this time."

EASTBAY WATER PROBLEM.

The importance of a water supply, the scope of the public utility district and other points are discussed as follows: There is no problem facing the Eastbay communities of greater magnitude or of more pressing importance than our water situation. Within a few years the limit of our present supply will be reached and immediate and full consideration of this problem by the cities affected is imperative if they are to continue to expand at the present encouraging rate.

The attention of the public should be called to the very important consequences involved in the selection of directors to be chosen at the coming election.

ESTIMATES BY COST.

Estimates have been made from time to time by competent engineers as to the cost of obtaining an adequate supply, running from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, varying with the source and quantity suggested. No definite figure can be given until

First—the source of supply is agreed upon;

Second—Until it is determined how far into the future we project our plans at this time, but it is clear that the directors chosen will be called upon to expend from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, that they will have before them compelling problems of great magnitude and they should be chosen not only on account of proven integrity but that with their honesty should be coupled ability of the highest order.

At the election to be held on May 8, the various Eastbay communities will have an opportunity to say whether they wish to join in a public utility district with power to exercise this and similar functions or not.

"The Torchbearers" Will Be Presented

ELOPING COUPLE WED AT PARENTS' PARENTS' HOME

Army Captain and Affianced in Surprise Marriage in Berkeley.

BERKELEY, April 2.—A reversal of the usual order of elopements marked the wedding of Captain Hugh Franklin Ewing, U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Mason, and Mrs. Cleo Sinclair, also of San Francisco, both of whom are well known in the Eastbay region.

Captain Ewing and his fiancée "eloped" from their many friends in army and social circles in San Francisco and slipped over to the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunbar, 1111 Dartmouth street, where they were married Saturday afternoon.

The Dunbars did not know that their daughter had chosen the time and place for her wedding until she appeared at their home with Captain Ewing, a minister and a small group of friends.

Rev. Elmer Hartsough of San Francisco performed the ceremony.

JAPANESE AGREE TO ABROGATION OF CHINA PACT

Lansing-Ishii Understanding
On Special Interests Seen
As Valuable.

BY CLARENCE DUBOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
TOKYO, April 2.—The Japanese government is entirely willing to abrogate the Lansing-Ishii agreement under which the United States recognized "special interests"—the exact definition of which has never been settled—of Japan in China, it was learned today.

Japan considers that the value of the agreement has long ceased to exist.

There is a strong feeling that Japan's natural geographical location in relation to China will continue to give her special interests.

Formal abrogation of the understanding authoritatively reported from Washington to have been arranged, will not affect present policies, it was understood.

Press comment thus far has been generally mildly favorable to abrogation of the pact.

Letter 35 Years on Way to Destination PERU, Ind., April 2.—A letter nearly five years before her death

though 72, and suffering From Complete Breakdown Caused by Pneumonia, P. R. Husted Declares Tanlac Restored
Him Fully; Gained 19
Pounds.

"Inside of two weeks after I began taking Tanlac I was back on the job, and I haven't missed working a shift since that time," was the remarkable statement made recently by P. R. Husted of 462 Naples street, San Francisco.
Mr. Husted, who is now in his seventy-second year, has resided in San Francisco for twenty-seven years and has a host of friends in the city.

"A little over a year ago," he continued, "I had an attack of pneumonia which left me in such terrible condition that it seemed impossible for me to get back on my feet again. When I finally got out of bed I was so weak it was all

I could do to drag about the house;
I had fallen off from 145 to only 125 pounds, had absolutely no appetite, and couldn't relish a thing to eat. I was awfully nervous, too, could never sleep well, and felt miserable all the time. As the weeks passed and I failed to get any better I became greatly worried, and if it hadn't been for Tanlac I don't believe I would be living now."

"One day an old friend of mine said, 'Take, you try the Tanlac treatment and I'll bet it will help you.' I had always been opposed to advertised medicines, but my friend insisted so strongly that I decided to try it, and before I finished the very first bottle I felt much better. In two weeks I was back at work, but I took seven bottles of Tanlac before I stopped, and it has put me in fine shape. I have regained every bit of my lost weight and feel like my old self again. I think Tanlac is the greatest medicine on earth."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute.
Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

LOVETT OPPOSES HILL PLAN FOR RAIL MERGERS

Union Pacific Head Says No
Regrouping Will End Troubles.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—The Southern Pacific and Union Pacific systems should be consolidated if the old Hill rail lines in the northwest are united as proposed to the Interstate Commerce Commission by H. H. Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific, declared at a hearing on consolidations held here today before Henry C. Hall, a member of the commission.

Judge Lovett declared that the consolidation of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington, as proposed by Holden in his "four system" plan for consolidating western railroads, would set up a plan far overshadowing the competitors provided by that project. There was an apparent recognition of this, he declared, in the plan's own "fumbling" of other lines with the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific in order that there should be other systems equal in mileage and investment to the Hill combination, however unequal in solidarity.

HOLDEN PLAN RAPPED.
Judge Lovett said the Holden plan weakened the old Harriman lines by loading them down with lines for which they had no natural affiliation and by making them competitors of their natural allies. The Union Pacific head also disagreed with Holden's view that each Pacific coast road should have a line extending to the Gulf of Mexico, asserting that the east and west traffic was the important and controlling factor with transcontinental lines and that the Holden plan would disarrange export grain arrangements.

Of the general matter of consolidation Judge Lovett said the commission's own plan, providing for seven systems instead of the four proposed by Holden, had departed from only with great caution.

Judge Lovett said conditions imposed by the commission on the Southern Pacific's application for permission to retain control of the Central Pacific protected his road with reasonable adequacy and that he had no objection to the Southern Pacific continuing in control under them.

TOO MUCH EXPECTED.
Judge Lovett made it plain that he had no objection to the commission's authorizing a consolidation of the Hill lines, but insisted that if this were done the commission should also authorize the reconstitution of the Harriman group to meet the strong combination that would be effected by the Hill consolidation. "To guard against possible misunderstanding of my views," said Judge Lovett, "I would like to add that I believe entirely reasonable is expected in some quarters with respect to these consolidations. If the object of the statute is accomplished and a plan for the consolidation of the railroad properties of the United States into a limited number of systems is adopted by the commission and carried out in full, it will not, in my opinion, aid very much in solving the railroad problem. It will not reduce the cost of transportation, or increase the traffic. It will not affect wages or the price of materials or supplies, or reduce the taxes, and it will not help the credit of the railroads as a whole."

SALT FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

Your Kidneys As You
Clean Your Bowels.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. Also we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean at the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help eliminate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take to keep the kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only a trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Doug Romps in Robin Hood

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, young America's hero, in a

by The TRIBUNE with the Franklin theater, is being seen at that playhouse at reduced admissions for the youngsters.

CHILDREN WON BY 'ROBIN HOOD'

There is no actor in the films who has found his way into the hearts of the children and the grown-ups as Douglas Fairbanks has. With boyish vivacity he romps through "Robin Hood," defying his king's enemies and fighting like a berserker to preserve his king's throne. A million and a half dollars went into the making of the picture and when you see the gigantic castles, the banquet halls and the thousands of knights and vassals, you wonder that it did not cost more.

Old costumes have been revived, tournaments of 800 years ago are fought over again. Friar Tuck "knops the king's scow" a brawny game, played with two heavy sticks in which one fighter tries to wrest his opponent's stick from him with his stick, which makes it a fascinating game—for the onlooker.

On account of its highly educational value, aside from its pleasing entertainment The TRIBUNE has arranged with the Franklin theater for a reduction of admissions to school children, provided The TRIBUNE coupon following is presented at the box office.

ADMIT ONE

This coupon with 25c admits any school child in Oakland and the East Bay Cities to any matinee performance of "ROBIN HOOD" the wonder feature picture at the FRANKLIN THEATER beginning Monday, April 2, and ending with the Saturday Matinee, April 7, through a special arrangement with the

Oakland Tribune

This price includes the war tax and is one-half the regular matinee price. This special arrangement has been made to enable every school child to see this interesting historical spectacle for its educational as well as its entertainment value.

PICK UP SERVICE OF PARCEL POST TO BE CONTINUED

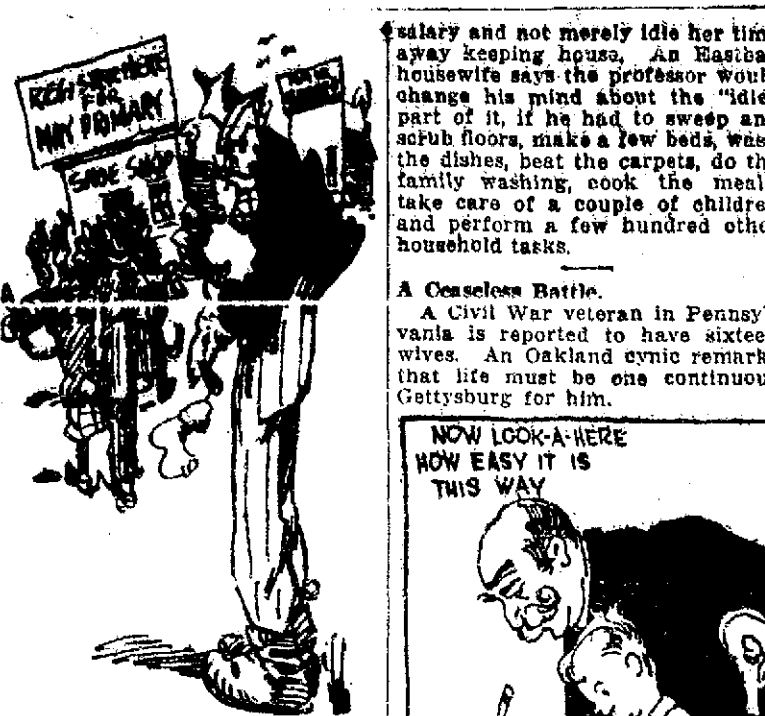

Congressman MacLafferty Induces P. O. Department Not to Curtail Work.

Restoration of the parcel post pick up service by the Oakland postoffice department has been brought about through the efforts of Congressman James H. MacLafferty. It became known today that this service was one in which the Oakland postoffice sent its own wagons to the large firms of the city gathering up thousands of packages and taking them direct to the central station for transport to distant parts of the country.

When the recent cut was made in the budget Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough was forced to announce that this service would have to be discontinued on April 1. Many leading business men sent urgent telegrams to MacLafferty asking that he use every effort to have the old plan restored. The outcome was that MacLafferty was able to inform the business men today that the postoffice department in Washington reversed itself, and will allow the parcel post pick up to continue.

"We are still in something of a dilemma," said Rosborough. "We are allowed to continue the old service, but our funds are so short that there is a serious question whether we can give an adequate

A U. C. professor is quoted as saying that a wife should earn a service in this connection. When the budget was cut our work was greatly hampered in all directions, and it is possible the parcel post pick up will have to suffer along with the rest. However, we will do the best we can until July 1, when more funds will be available for all branches of our work.

RUSH BEGUN FOR TRAINING CAMPS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Applications for admission to the military training camps to be conducted this summer are pouring in so fast that the quota of 1000 selected candidates will be obtained within a short time. Colonel Ernest V. Smith, chief of staff of the 1st Division, announced today.

Knights of Columbus, posts of the American Legion, commercial bodies, schools and societies generally throughout California have been asked by Colonel Smith to co-operate with the military authorities in making selections and recommendations. A selected person is thus assured.

These camps are conducted by the War Department under the National Defense Act and one need not be wealthy to enjoy their benefits, for there is no expense to those who attend. The War Department providing transportation from any part of the state to the camp and return, as well as board, lodging, medical attention, uniforms, equipment, arms, laundry (for clothing issued at camp) and amusements in the form of athletics, games and musical entertainments.

All inquiries and applications regarding the camps should be sent as early as possible to the Chief of Staff, 1st Division, Presidio of San Francisco, California. Each county is to have a quota this year and it will be rigidly adhered to. It appears that the age of matrimonial discretion is sandwiched between youth and old age.

CYCLES AND SUGGESTIONS

Generally speaking, unemployment is caused by waste. The business slump which brings unemployment is due to extravagance, speculation, inflation, overexpansion, and inefficiency in production developed during booms. From this conclusion a committee of the President's Conference on Unemployment has made its deductions in a report rendered today.

It is the committee's opinion that the strategic point of attack is the reduction of these wastes or evils and the ways suggested include as the main one the provision for such current economic information as will show the signs of danger. With a nearer general understanding of these signs by producers, distributors, and banks, saner policies will result.

The committee suggests deferment of certain types of public work and constructive enterprises to periods of unemployment to subtract production from the peak of the boom and add it to the valley of depression.

"The report," says Herbert Hoover, "does not suggest panaceas or economic revolution but seeks to drive home the facts that the enlargement of judgment in individual business men as to the trend of business and consequent widened vision as to the approaching dangers will greatly contribute to stability and that the necessary information upon which such judgments can be based must be systematically recruited and distributed."

The committee was appointed after the unemployment situation in 1927 had developed, particularly in the East and its conclusions are directed at the subject in general. On the record of the past there have been alternate peaks and valleys of employment and the object of the investigators is that these valleys may be discerned in the offing and perhaps filled close to level, by constructive work, and by the elimination of the various wastes.

The report, which will fill a good sized book, is believed to represent a definite advance in economic thought and, for its practical constructive suggestions, should make for progress.

ASPARAGUS CROP MOVING

About 3,000 crates of asparagus are moving daily through one warehouse in Antioch. The great Delta region of California is performing its annual feat of supplying nine tenths of the world's supply.

Delta growers have the satisfaction of knowing that, so far, the price has been a little better than a year ago. There was a slump in quantity a few days ago which caused some to wonder if the yield were going to fall below normal but the slackening was only temporary. Now the crop is moving and the canneries are starting in to operate.

received in a number of plants today and the canneries prices are in the neighborhood of seven cents, a record not heretofore beaten. There is every indication that the growers of this crop which has brought such attention to California are to be rewarded in a manner which will remove them from the ranks of agriculturalists who have had reason to complain.

AFTER THE WEEVIL

California is preparing to battle the alfalfa weevil and, from all indications, it is to be a battle which will call for intelligent co-operation. The weevil has not crossed the borders but it is on its way. The time is not far distant, according to farm experts, when the state will declare a quarantine on the hay. It is necessary that alfalfa growers realize the situation and make their plans accordingly.

When California imposes the quarantine the shipment of hay from Nevada and Utah will cease. The weevil is active already in Utah and Nevada is concerned. A result of the quarantine will be that Nevada and Utah farmers will plant other crops in place of hay and increase the cattle production.

It becomes vitally important that the weevil be kept out of this state for the Pacific Coast will depend in large measure on the crop here. The Byron unit of the Alfalfa Growers Exchange proposes to canvass Northern California as to supply and demand and all other conditions of value to the grower. It will issue market letters as often as is necessary. Farm Bureaus, county agents, and Federal agricultural experts will be on the alert. If the weevil is kept out of California it will be another case of where a few thousand dollars will save hundreds of thousands. For its part in the program the Byron unit is deserving of the thanks of the entire northern part of the state.

THE "TOP" COUNTY.

Those who take the highway to Stockton very soon will be greeted by a signboard which will read: "San Joaquin, the Top County. Stands at the top in California, Ranking first in the production of wheat, corn, barley, potatoes, onions, table grapes. Ranks fourth in the products of the soil among all counties of the United States. Ranks first among the four ranking counties in production per acre."

These facts have convinced the commercial and agricultural organizations of San Joaquin of their advertising value. The top, the kind the small boy spins, will be the symbol and the "top county" the slogan. Stockton has known for some time San Joaquin county stood fourth in the counties of the country for agricultural production. It has not realized, however, until recently that in the value of production to the acre she was first and well in the lead.

Los Angeles county, with 2,633,600 acres is first with a production valued at $61,366,408. Second is Aroostock county, Maine, one of more than four million acres, with $52,511,203. The value of the Fresno county crops is $51,861,252 and that of San Joaquin, $37,956,860. It should be noted that the acreage in San Joaquin is one-third that of Los Angeles, less than a fourth of that of the Maine county and approximately a fourth of that of Fresno county. The value of crop to the acre in San Joaquin is $49.96, while the next highest county's production value to the acre is $23.65. To Californians it will appear pleasing and natural that three of the four highest ranking counties in the country are in this state and two in this part of the state.

This might be "good stuff" for Californians, Inc., in the campaign to make the attractions of this State still more widely understood. More than 75 soldiers convicted of desertion, whose cases are under review at the Presidio, are in military prisons because they were willing to sacrifice their liberty for a time to get to California. When men forfeit their liberty to get here those with apt ability to ring the advertising points ought to find the opportunity to make a telling argument to the millions, many of whom are able to live wherever they choose.

Reckless motorists who run down pedestrians and then run away should find a warning in what happened to Joseph W. Elder of San Francisco. He ran a man down and crippled him for life as long ago as Thanksgiving Day, and ran away as far as Wisconsin, but he was not forgotten, and the long arm of the law finally reached out and got him, and now he is held under $10,000 bonds. When accidents happen it is the part of honesty to face consequences, but it is far and away preferable to exercise decent caution and care that accidents may not happen.

THEN AND NOW

A year ago there were nearly 500,000 automobiles in the country. Now there is a shortage of nearly 100,000 cars, and a still larger number could be used if they were available.

Now the iron and steel interests were running at about 20 per cent capacity. Now they are running at from 80 per cent to 90 per cent capacity and are being kept busy by the lack of transportation.

Then business was stagnant and slow. Now business is active and growing more and more active day by day, and optimism rules the land.

Then there was some uncertainty as to the extent of construction activity which would prevail throughout the land. Now construction is proceeding at an almost unprecedented rate in the building of dwellings, apartment houses, magnificent hotels, office buildings, banks, churches and schools, and practically in every other line of construction work.

Then the railroads had scarcely any business and cars. Now the car and locomotive shops are loaded with orders from railroads which will tax many of them to their capacity for months to come.

Then the railroad officials were in despair, not knowing how they would be able to meet their obligations and expand their facilities to take care of the traffic. Now the railroads are working on safe ground with a margin of profit which will enable them to finance for great improvements and an increase in rolling stock beyond anything which they had been doing for six or seven years.

Then the iron and steel and kindred interests were at a very low depth. Dullness, depression and almost despair ruled in many an office of companies and almost despair ruled in many an office of companies and almost despair ruled in many an office of companies.

Then the cotton was low and every bale sold at a loss. Now cotton is higher, and every bale sold yields a fair margin of profit to most producers.

Then the farmers of the West, like those of the South, were suffering in dire poverty. Now increased prices for wheat and corn and cattle and hogs have lifted many millions of dollars of indebtedness, and encouraged the Western farmers, as well as Southern farmers, to go ahead with their work.

Then exports and imports alike were small. Now exports and imports are heavy and rapidly expanding.

Those are but a few of the striking things which indicate the wonderful change which has come over the country.

But more than this is the realization of the fact that the tide has completely turned, that the wheels of the economy are moving, that the wheels of the economy are moving, that the wheels of the economy are moving.

The LANTERN

Which?
Hope cannot tell us anything;
Foundling of a bygone year,
(But, dear!);
Still we take her by the hand,
Knowing she knows not this one thing:
Shall we dream of burgeoning
(and spring);
Or will it be a dreamless sleep
(and deep);
Endless, where we know no thing?
—Sidney Starr.

Something to Look Forward To
Sir: I have grown so attached to Archy that I am terribly worried about his health. Have you had him vaccinated, had his tonsils out, his adenoids removed, his appendix taken out and a gland of some kind put into him—and, above all, have you had "a thorough physical examination" made? If you haven't done all these things, if you have neglected Archy, I fear his days are numbered. Go to the doctor immediately and have him examined. The examination will not cost so very much, a trifle really, but the operations that are sure to follow an examination will, I fear, be a little high, say, $899,999.99. But, why hesitate when if you have all these things done to Archy and all those things taken out of him he will be likely to live a month or two longer? I hope you won't think I am too nervous about him, but you know that every day in every way in every column of every newspaper we are told we must "have a thorough physical examination." If we don't want to die instantly Archy must live, ever if it costs a billion dollars for examinations. Yours most anxiously,
—One of Archy's Admirers

Society Notes From the Back Yard

Mr. T. Black-Cat
Has been on a bat,
Now, he is home,
Entertaining a friend,
(It's Miss Kitty Gray,
From over the way.)

The music is special—
A concert each day.
That frequently changes
From gloomy to gay.
At first the notes surge
Like a universal dirge;
The music then whispers
"The cosmic urge,
Then rises to heights
Of ecstatic bliss,
And dies on deep notes
Of an agonized sigh."
—Lucy A. Kingsbury

The human race and perhaps it is just as well that this is so, always takes its logic for granted.

When you don't really know much about the subject you are talking about.

Just compliment the person to whom you are talking on how much he knows about it.

And he will begin to think you are wise.

You will eventually begin to deny the existence of the big things.

And these big things sooner or later will like a good old revenge upon you.

Simply coming up and standing beside you and thus reducing you to scale.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

New York Herald - "With four or five investigations proceeding simultaneously in the so-called sugar scandal one of the searching parties ought to be able to find out who is the President's favorite." The President's favorite is the President's favorite.

Louisville Courier-Journal - "Just as everybody was saying that Calvin Coolidge would inevitably become Senator Walsh in 1934 comes the announcement that Louis A. Coolidge may be groomed for the Republican nomination for Governor of Massachusetts in 1936. It would be a pretty good bet that Calvin Coolidge would be elected in a landslide." The President's favorite is the President's favorite.

Chicago News - "The old-fashioned ghost that walked in the still watches of the night is a back number. Five o'clock, p. m., the 10th hour—think of it—is dedicated to Los Angeles spiritualists to be the ideal hour for spirit photography. The hour is vibrations best suited to spirits to return to the earth. If vibrations are what the spirits crave 5 p. m. of the loop will give them a plenty."

Oregonian - "We are entitled to such satisfaction as we are able to extract from the showing that the only nations that have not exhausted their immigration quotas for the fiscal year are situated in northern Europe but the principle on which the law was founded seems to be vindicated, just the same."

Richmond Times - Dispatch - "President Harding it is rumored is soon to assume the offensive and open his campaign for renomination and re-election in a series of speeches to be delivered in a country tour to follow soon after his houseboat vacation in Florida. Although it is more than a year before the next national convention will be held and nearly two years before the sovereign electorate will vote the President's friends fear that it is time too soon for him to take the field."

Seattle Times - "A news despatch from Washington, D. C., brings the information that the Department of the Interior is taking official notice of the opinion with which some of the government are taking to the government a despatch from the government plant known as the asserted by government experts to be about four times as illegal as moonshine."

The typewriter is making poor penmen of a great many. The number of personal letters—even love letters—written by typewriter is legion, until multitudes use the machine as to be indifferent in penmanship. A new state Holstein champion is announced for California. Earl Graham at Compton, takes first place as a senior three year old for production in 305 days. She produced 17,494 pounds of milk and 682.65 pounds of butterfat equivalent to 328.5 pounds of butter.

Some boys in New Hampshire recently achieved the moves by diving for a swim in a hole cut in the ice. They trained themselves for the stunt by beginning last summer and swimming every day without interruption when the water began to grow chilly in the autumn. It is like the fable of the man who began carrying a calf on his shoulders every day and kept it up for several years, so that it was no trouble for him when the calf had grown to bulldoze. I have nothing against Florida or California or any other ideal spot. There is such a spot, but in my judgment the valetudinarian who dreads the winter can best fortify himself for the season by emulating the New Hampshire boys or the fellow who shouldered the bull. As one help in doing this, establish an absolute limit for the household thermometer and see to it that the temperature throughout the season of artificial heating is never permitted to rise above 63 degrees Fahrenheit. From 60 to 65 degrees is the healthful range. There is no place whither you or I may go where pneumonia is unlikely to happen, unless it be within polar territory. So far as this is concerned, the residents of cure of bronchitis, residents of more northern places who slip away to Florida or California merely do what the myth makes the ostrich do when he is confronted with danger. One subject to bronchitis or other chronic respiratory disease or unduly susceptible to pneumonia, is "poorly" in the winter because that is the season when foul air is generally deemed fit to breathe. Foul air is air that is still and warm—too still and too warm for health. It would indeed be silly to urge folks to keep cool and shivering for health's sake. Keep comfortable, by all means, but bear this in mind: Natural body warmth which is essential to comfort does not depend on the temperature of the air of the room. Experience proves that it is easier for any one, young or old, feeble or vigorous to be comfortable in a room having an air temperature of 65 than it is in a room having a temperature of 75. So don't try to keep good and warm; try to keep cool and well.

TODAY 20 YEARS AGO
Preparations are being made for Mrs. William Clift on San Pablo avenue.

The Hill club was entertained on Monday by Mrs. Roberts of Vernon street. The program included a talk on Victor Hugo by Mrs. Benjamin Way Mills.

The latest thing in women's headgear is the black clip hat, partly underlaid with black velvet and trimmed with white ostrich tips. The recent heavy storms have done considerable damage to the country roads in and around Pleasanton.

Height of Laziness.
A man traveling through the Ozarks of northern Missouri went into a small country store. The only man in sight, presumably the proprietor, was enjoying his ease at the back of the store, chair tilted back and feet on the counter, and made no move to come forward.

The prospective customer waited a few minutes and then called: "Can't you come and wait on me? I am in a hurry to get started home."

The proprietor shifted his position slightly and drawled: "Couldn't you come in some other way?"

PERSONAL HEALTH

SOME ONE ASKS ABOUT SPENDING WINTERS IN FLORIDA IF ONE IS SUBJECT TO PNEUMONIA.

Assuming the querist does not reside in Florida, he would be just as safe here through the winter as almost anywhere else in North America, in my judgment. Of course, they have their share of pneumonia in Florida, California and all those ideal places, but not more of it in relation to the population than Massachusetts, Minnesota or Michigan. Anybody who contemplates traveling to get away from pneumonia had better travel north; if such a traveler goes far enough north he may escape contact with the disease throughout the winter, for while pneumonia is widely prevalent in the south temperature and sub-tropical belt it is comparatively rare in the Arctic.

Some boys in New Hampshire recently achieved the moves by diving for a swim in a hole cut in the ice. They trained themselves for the stunt by beginning last summer and swimming every day without interruption when the water began to grow chilly in the autumn. It is like the fable of the man who began carrying a calf on his shoulders every day and kept it up for several years, so that it was no trouble for him when the calf had grown to bulldoze. I have nothing against Florida or California or any other ideal spot. There is such a spot, but in my judgment the valetudinarian who dreads the winter can best fortify himself for the season by emulating the New Hampshire boys or the fellow who shouldered the bull. As one help in doing this, establish an absolute limit for the household thermometer and see to it that the temperature throughout the season of artificial heating is never permitted to rise above 63 degrees Fahrenheit. From 60 to 65 degrees is the healthful range. There is no place whither you or I may go where pneumonia is unlikely to happen, unless it be within polar territory. So far as this is concerned, the residents of cure of bronchitis, residents of more northern places who slip away to Florida or California merely do what the myth makes the ostrich do when he is confronted with danger. One subject to bronchitis or other chronic respiratory disease or unduly susceptible to pneumonia, is "poorly" in the winter because that is the season when foul air is generally deemed fit to breathe. Foul air is air that is still and warm—too still and too warm for health. It would indeed be silly to urge folks to keep cool and shivering for health's sake. Keep comfortable, by all means, but bear this in mind: Natural body warmth which is essential to comfort does not depend on the temperature of the air of the room. Experience proves that it is easier for any one, young or old, feeble or vigorous to be comfortable in a room having an air temperature of 65 than it is in a room having a temperature of 75. So don't try to keep good and warm; try to keep cool and well.

CLUB WILL PICK SITE TOMORROW

Athens Members Are Called to General Meeting in the Aahmes Pavilion to Hear
Report on Building Plan

In order to decide upon a site for the proposed club house and office building, the Athens club will hold a general meeting of its membership in Aahmes pavilion, Thirteenth and Harrison streets, at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening. At this meeting, a report will be submitted by a committee consisting of Joseph J. Rosborough, Carsten Schmidt and Lynne Stanley, appointed a week ago to investigate the question of sites. According to plans announced at the last general meeting of the organization, held last Wednesday evening at the Hotel Oakland, final selection of the site will be made, by vote of the membership at tomorrow night's meeting.

Various new sites are being presented to the club by Oakland property owners. The special committee on sites appointed by the board of directors, and consisting of Joseph Rosborough, Carsten Schmidt and Lynne Stanley, met last night to receive offers. The following locations have been presented: the Congregational church property, 206x120 northwest corner of Clay and Twelfth; the Coit property, southwest corner of Fifteenth and Harrison, 150x150; the Henderson property, northeast corner of Fourteenth and Harrison, 85x150; the property at Nineteenth and Telegraph, now under option to Diggs, Fraser, Stanley and others; the property at Nineteenth and Harrison, 150x150, and a site at Twenty-first and San Pablo, 115x300.

All these sites, with prices and in several instances with accompanying plans for building, will be presented to the board of directors tomorrow afternoon, preceding the general membership meeting. A communication has been sent to the directors of the Athens Athletic club relative to a statement published in the TRIBUNE Friday evening concerning an appraisal made by the association of property bounded by Telegraph, San Pablo, Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets. The appraisal made of the Breed, Fontaine and Goldwater parcels, under option to a group representing the Athens club, was compared with the price now asked.

In the communication from the Uptown Association, signed by George Sheldon, secretary-manager, it is stated that the appraisals quoted by the TRIBUNE are incorrect. The TRIBUNE's figures were incorrect in omitting one piece of property, and following is the appraisal made last year by the Uptown Association through its secretary-manager and now of public record:

Valuation of	Uptown Association
Goldwater property.....	$117,941
Breed and Bancroft property.....	107,500
Fontaine property.....	7,200
Church property, per foot valuation (six ft.).....	1,050
	$233,691
Price Asked
Athens Club.....	$250,000
Breed and Bancroft property.....	200,000
Fontaine property.....	50,000
Church property per foot valuation (six ft.).....	5,000

It is admitted that the appraisal of the Uptown Association was conservative. The Goldwater property, per foot valuation (six ft.).....

Partheneia Peaches Are on iTheir iTut-Tut-Tootsies

Here we have a few of King Tut's Egyptian hand-maidens (nothing mummified about them, either) who will take a prominent part in this year's Partheneia at U. C. The temporarily transformed co-eds are, left to right: MONTEREY LINN, FLORA GRAY, ARTHURINE THORNTON, EILEEN EYRE, RUTH CRANE and EDITH CARROLL.

property, in the name of W. H. Welby when the appraisement of the Uptown Association was made, was sold to Goldwater for $130,000 or less, which represents an increase over the Uptown Association's figures of a trade in advance of 10 per cent. The sale price of the entire property under the appraisement of the Uptown Association is $117 per cent.

It is announced that the real estate board will be asked to submit an appraisal to offset the criticism which has been made. What the appraisement of the real estate board will be has not been announced, but the appraisement of the telegraph avenue and Eighteenth street property claim that it will justify the options. A new angle developed today when it was reported that the assessor had sent for one of the property owners with an idea of making adjustments on previous values.

Following is the letter from the Uptown Association to the directors of the Athens Athletic Club: "I have been requested by the officers of the Uptown Association to call to your attention the article appearing in last Friday evening's edition of the Oakland TRIBUNE under the heading of 'Athens Athletic Club to Meet on Buildings Site,' in which it stated 'It has been disclosed that last year the Uptown Association made an appraisal of property in this vicinity which is of record, etc.'"

"The Uptown Association desires to again go on record at this time, as it has in the past, that at no time will it value or place a price on any of the property of its members or owners within the district of the city that it represents. The purpose of the Uptown Association is one of co-operation for the safeguarding, improvement and general betterment of the city of Oakland which lies north of Fourteenth street. The appraisals quoted in the above-referred article are, in the first place, incorrect and, secondly, the only figures as submitted on properties in the range of the Uptown Association district were those that have been discussed with the city and county assessors for equalizing and adjusting the tax values only. For two years or more, the Uptown Association has been earnestly endeavoring to adjust, if possible, a fair tax assessment of the property in its district as well as in the city and county as a whole, and any figures submitted were for this purpose alone and were not to place a market or sale value on any property."

"As stated above, the sale value of any of the property of any member of this association is one for him alone to decide. The officers and its executive committee are not interested in any particular site upon which to locate the Athens Athletic Club as the matter has never been placed before our organization. Trusting that this will place before you the position and attitude so far as its policies are concerned, I beg to remain."

Eleven Headline Acts In Press Club Show

With a program of eleven headline acts, including Robert Warwick, "Bull" Montana, the U. C. Glee club, and a "gridiron" skit written and acted by local newspapermen, the first annual Press Club Show will be presented to-night at the Grand Hotel.

Coinciding with the production of the club is moving into space, the Press Club building at Seventeenth street and Broadway. An interesting feature of to-night's affair is the fact that most of the prominent men of the East bay who are to be "roasted" in the newspapermen's skit, "One Fourth of One Estate," have bought tickets for the show.

The cast is composed of local newspapermen, who have been directed in their parts by Frank Darrin of the Fulton theater. Ned Doyle, of the same playhouse, will act as stage manager.

Robert Warwick, noted actor who is soon to open an engagement at the Fulton theater, will appear in the principal feature of tonight's program, with an act he has devised especially for the occasion. "Bull" Montana, wrestler and movie star, and "Chuck" Riesner, co-director with Ned Doyle in the production of "The Pilgrim," will give a super-comedy act, "Life in the Studio."

Frances Kennedy, famous singing and dancing artist who heads the bill at the Oakland Orpheum this week, will put on her best "stuff" as one of the stellar attractions. "Dancers Will Entertain" will be the title of her famous youthful dancers, featuring Spanish, gypsy, and ancient Egyptian steps.

Ned Doyle, Fulton theater comedian, will guarantee fifteen minutes of laughs with an act filled with farcical humor. Leona Schultz, xylophone artist, is scheduled for a special entertainment feature of the bill. A three-minute talk will be given at the opening of the program by Roy Harrison Lunt, fourth, president of the Press Club. The Community Orchestra, composed of Eastbay men and women, directed by Glean H. Woods, will give a concert.

PARTHENEIA'S DANCERS ATTACK CONVENTIONALITY

BERKELEY, April 2.—Youth's rebellion against conventionality will be the theme of this year's Partheneia to be presented by the women students of the University of California on Thursday and Friday afternoons in Faculty Glade.

Laura Wickham, who plays the leading role of the Princess, represents all maidenhood in her attack on conventionality. She chooses a companion as her guide through life, Pleasure, Wealth, Adventure, Contemplation and even Love are the symbolic characters spurred by the Princess in her search for a companion to aid her in life's struggle. With the aid of Sense of Humor, the ideal is turned to "A Thing of Lust," chosen as the name of the masque.

There are a score of leading roles in the production, and each represents some symbolic character. These will also be 150 girls taking part in the pageantry and dancing, representing priests, slave girls and followers in the trains of the groups such as Pleasure and Wealth.

Program Given at Arroyo Sanitarium

The annual Easter program was given yesterday at the Arroyo Sanitarium under the auspices of the County Hospital Christmas Committee. E. F. Garrison was chairman of the program, which was as follows:

SURPRISE IS SPRUNG IN ALLEN CASE

Coming as a surprise to the prosecution in the trial of Harry Allen, charged with the murder of Walter Dowdy, Palo Alto garage owner and automobile dealer, the defense today stipulated that all of the receipts including signatures in a small receipt book introduced at the trial by the prosecution were in Allen's handwriting.

The book contains three receipts, the third being looked upon by the prosecution as one of its pivotal points upon which the theory that Allen murdered Dowdy rests. It is charged that Allen persuaded Dowdy to start for Modesto on December 22, last, ostensibly to purchase a second hand automobile. Allen's claim to Dowdy that he had paid $75 down on the car was backed up by the receipt in question, which purports to be signed with the name of Ransey. The prosecution contends that Allen expected Dowdy to have with him the balance of the purchase price of the automobile, and that robbery was the motive of the crime, the murder having been committed with a small hand axe, according to the prosecution.

E. O. Heinrichs, handwriting expert and chemical analyst, occupied the stand at the morning session of the trial. He testified in detail as to his examination of the automobile in which Allen and Dowdy started on their fatal trip and in which the murder was committed, according to the prosecution's theory.

Heinrichs described minutely his examination of the various bloodstains in and about the machine. He stated that he found many of them on the under side of the top, the windshield and the right side of the rear door and from corners to be elongated.

He said that he mapped these spots with a view to securing the angles at which they had struck

Motorist Drives Auto Into Lake, But Engine Runs

William Ford, 2525 Hillebrand street, Berkeley, is accustomed to taking his car over the shortest routes, and in a moment of pre-occupation yesterday he essayed a shortcut across Lake Merritt. When he found himself cruising off shore at Lakeshore drive near Twenty-first street he realized that he had made an error. However, he swam ashore without any difficulty and soon obtained a tow line and a tow and had the machine back in its element.

The motor coughed a couple of times to show its dislike for the water and Ford proceeded on his way with a generous measure of Lake Merritt in the rear seat.

Check Theft Charge Reduced, Admitted

A charge of grand larceny was today reduced to one of petit larceny in the case of Lee Jamison, arrested on a complaint sworn to by B. M. Alford of the Central National Bank. The specific charge is that Jamison stole a Gladstone bag containing $105, 176.23 in checks deposited in San Francisco, and most of them drawn on the Central National Bank of Oakland. All the checks have been returned except one for $85.

The charge was reduced on the motion of the city attorney and Jamison pleaded guilty. His case was referred to the probation office for report and sentence on April 19.

the portions of the machine which they were found and that a protection of these angles brought them to a common starting point. He said that this point was directly in the center line of the machine immediately over the driver's seat and behind the steering wheel.

Heinrich also testified to finding blood stains in the tool box which was under the front seat of the machine. He also said he found stains and smears of blood on the under side of the right front cushion.

WOMAN SHOT TO ACCUSE ASSAILANT

Struggling back to life after being wounded with a revolver shot by a disappointed suitor Mrs. Ida Lorenti, 23, mother of five children, in the Merritt Hospital today prepared to swear to a complaint charging Walter H. Kerr, 20, with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Following the confession of Kerr to the police that he had fired the shot at Mrs. Lorenti because she had jilted him as "only a kid," Captain of Inspectors Richard McSorley said this morning that he would send two men and a court clerk to the hospital this afternoon to take Mrs. Lorenti's testimony and have her sign the complaint.

Meanwhile Kerr is in the city jail and has declined to say more of his affiliations with the wounded woman than was disclosed in his original statement to the police.

In his reported confession to Police Inspectors Alexander Trotter and George Powers, Kerr said he had taken Mrs. Lorenti to a dance Saturday night and afterwards had gone with her to a restaurant at 468 Eighth street. When Mrs. Lorenti resented his advances and chided him on his youth, Kerr drew a revolver and fired one shot at her. Then he carried her to the street and obtained the services of a passing automobile in taking her to the emergency hospital. Subsequently he called at the police station and intimated that the woman had been wounded by her estranged husband. Under questioning he finally admitted his guilt.

After emergency treatment Mrs. Lorenti was removed to the Merritt hospital. The bullet passed through her left arm and lodged in the left side below the heart. Physicians declared her condition to be serious, but she is expected to recover.

CORNHUSKER TRACK TEAM WILL ARRIVE IN BERKELEY TODAY

Nebraska Athletes Appear to Have Formidable Team; Bruins Should Have Keen Competition in Dual Meet Saturday

By DOUG. MONTELL.

With two victories over U. S. C. and one over the Olympic Club the California track team begins to look like a winner. The Bruins are not being conceded anything as yet, Nebraska challenging their best efforts next Saturday and Stanford, Oregon and Washington yet remaining on the list of dual meets, not to mention the I. C. A. A. A. and Pacific Coast Conference contests. But Walt Christie's men are showing symptoms of being as formidable a contender for honors as ever.

California is not overly strong in several events and from the material on display shows no signs of improving in these particular contests. Bulk points registered in several events constitute the Bears' strongest hope for honors in dual meets with their chances in the Eastern and Northern contests more or less a matter of speculation.

Aggies Hope To Win Coast Track Honors

O. A. C. Team Strong in All Distance Runs; Veterans Are On Hand.

CORVALLIS, Ore., April 2.—With strong runners in every event the Oregon Agricultural College track squad has hopes for annexing the Pacific Coast championship this spring. Nine letter men from last year's squad are working out under Track Coach Butler.

Captain Merv Hollinger heads the list of track aspirants. He will be used in the 440 and 220-yard events. Hollinger also has four strong competitors out for the 440-yard race in Dan Connett, Lee Sims, Ray Dodge and Harold Stone. All of these men are letter men from last year. Sims, Stone and Connett will also try for the half-mile run. Coach Butler has an exceptionally well-balanced squad this spring, with nearly as many point-getters in the field events as in the track events. In the long distances Art Walker, George Booth, Tom Hayley and Earl Mack are showing up in great style while George Graves, a cross-country man from the Oregon Aggies is also running the distance events in fast time.

Spiers Eliminates Stein in Victoria

VICTORIA, B. C., April 2.—Clark Spiers of the English club, Seattle, will compete with B. P. Schwenger of Victoria today for the amateur golf championship of British Columbia. In yesterday's semi-finals Spiers eliminated Ben Stein, Seattle, one up, and Schwenger eliminated A. V. Macdon of Victoria.

Marty Krug Is Pleased With His New Job

By MARTY KRUG.

Manager Lee Anderson of the Pacific Coast League has been appointed to manage one of the best clubs in the Pacific Coast league. I am not given to making a prediction this early in the race as to where the Angels will finish but must say that the club that beats us will win the pennant. I am confident after watching my fight for the leadership from start to finish.

There is every reason to be confident in our club. In all my experience in training camps I have never seen a club show more real hustling spirit than has been shown since I was appointed manager. There has been a change in the club and every man, with the exception of Ory Crandall, is going to enter the race in hot competition.

Our infield with Griggs at first, Deal at left, McCauley at short, and myself at second, is second to none, taking everything into consideration. Not only is there an abundance of brains and skill, but there is experience and determination to be regarded as the cleverest infield in the league.

At the plate we have the punch. Take Deal, Hood and Griggs. Three hard hitters will not be one find in the league. Besides, they are smart and exceedingly dependable in the pinches. I have no fear about our hitting strength, for besides Deal, Hood and Griggs, we have McCauley, Carroll, Lindmore, Twomey, Cushman, Baldwin, Daly and Rego, who will swing the ball for better than a .300 average. And I expect to do a little hitting myself. We are a bit unfortunate in opening the season with Crandall on the sick list. Yet we are strongly fortified in having high class pitchers like Lyons, Hughes, Jones, Wallace, Thomas and Ponder. Where could we find a finer array of pitchers than that? It cannot be done in the Pacific Coast league. Jones, a lefthander, who was with the Cubs last season, has made such wonderful advancement this spring that I believe he is going to give Jackie May a run for the honor of being the best southpaw in the league.

PENDLETON, Ore., April 2.—With perfect weather and a record crowd the Blue Mountain baseball league opened its season at Pendleton when the Echo Sluggers defeated the Pendleton Buckaroos by a score of 12 to 12.

Siki Was Not Only Champ On Losing End

Greb, Villa and O'Dowd Keep Senegalese Battler Company

NEW YORK, April 2.—Battling Siki should not mourn too much about the loss of his light-heavyweight championship. He isn't the only one who has been dethroned this year, he isn't the last one who will get it.

Siki wasn't going any place particular anyway. He was always in danger of "the first good man" he met and Mike McGuire, the succeeding champion, is in the same fix.

McGuire should remain champion as long as he stays away from first-class opponents from the mid-dleweights up. Mike can't hit and his boxing will not make him popular enough to cash in heavy on his title.

One peculiar thing about Mike is the fact that he seems to work over colored boxers. He was one of the first to whip Panama Joe Gans, when all of the first-class white middleweights were ducking the colored champion. He also knocked out George Robinson, after George had given a fine performance.

Gene Sarazen To Represent U. S. Golfers

American Champion Voted Permission to Enter the British Open.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Gene Sarazen, American golf champion, was voted permission by directors of Royal Golf Club today to participate in the British open golf championships to be held at Troon, Scotland, in June. In responding to their former action in forbidding Sarazen to compete in the match-play club officials granted the champion leave of absence beginning May 2.

Sarazen will set in form on the Briar Cliff course, where he is professional, and will join other American golfers on the Troon course a month before the match to acclimate himself. He opened the club officials' granted the champion leave of absence beginning May 2.

Gray didn't want him to try too hard, so he told him to work out in the afternoon. The regular work out in the morning. Maybe when the Giants hit the road, Sir James will get a lower berth. That's the way.

High School Hoop Teams in Chicago Play

West Well Represented in Inter-scholastic Basket Tourney.

CHICAGO, April 2.—Washington, Idaho, Arizona and Utah were represented by teams arriving here yesterday for participation in the national invitation inter-scholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago, beginning Tuesday. The lads from the West spent the day in sightseeing and prepared to give over today to lumbering up processes on the case floor. Among the day's arrivals were:

Mesa high school, Arizona champions; Springfield high, Utah champions; Weston, Idaho champions; El Paso, Texas state runner-ups; and Etowah high, which took third place in the Washington state play.

Play for the national scholastic leadership honors is scheduled to begin Tuesday with the afternoon meeting between West Walla high, Washington state champions, and Gloversville high of New York, state winners of the Adirondack tournament. Eacoville, Mass., Custer high of Miles City, Mont., and Ochoa high, Iowa champions, are others slated to meet in the opening day's play. Champions or runners-up of thirty states are entered for play.

The games for opening games tomorrow include:

Walla Walla, Wash., vs. Gloversville, N. Y.

Naticoke, Pa., vs. Miles City, Mont.

Korfolk, Va., vs. Windsor, Colo.

Indo Park, Ill., vs. Bagerman, N. M.

Eastonville, Wash., vs. Piteburg, Mass.

Mason, Ga., vs. Mesa, Ariz.

Nebraska Eleven May Yet Come West

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 2.—The University of Nebraska probably will schedule a football game with one of California's three large universities for 1924, according to Jack Jackson, Cornhusker director of athletics, who is here with the track and field team, which will meet the University of California at Berkeley next Saturday.

The Nebraska schedule is filed for 1923, and Lawson, and no attempts will be made to line up more contests for this year.

Perfect Scores In Empire Shoot

SPOKANE, April 2.—Six teams shot perfect scores in yesterday's shoot of the International and Empire Transshipping tournament. Following are the scores:

U. C. Golfers Defeated by Berkeley Duo

Novak and Goodwin, Upson and Ede in Exhibition Game.

By W. D. MCGILL.

At Berkeley yesterday an exhibition match was played during the afternoon and resulted in a 2-1 victory for Clare Goodwin and Joe Novak. Their opponents were Laurence Upson and Willie Ede of the U. C. golf team. Neither of the university boys played up to their best form yesterday, when they do and happen to team well they are hard to beat.

Clare Goodwin was of considerable assistance to Joe Novak during the match, he won the first hole with a birdie 3 and at the difficult 14th pond hole he holed an approach for another three.

Joe Novak had an approximate 76, five strokes over his record score of 71. Next Sunday Abe Espinoza will endeavor to equal par a feat that has yet to be accomplished. Espinoza will have W. M. Pugh for partner, while Joe Novak will have W. J. Bell's assistance in a best ball contest over 18 holes.

For the following Sunday invitations have been extended to Dr. H. Stinson of Sequoyah and Gerald Hardy of the California Club, who should give a good account of themselves in a best ball contest. An April Fool's Day tournament was planned by the Berkeley club, but the competitors fooled the committee by failing to turn up.

Daily morning showers had a depressing effect on the attendance at the various golf courses, although many were fortunate in getting in at least 18 holes play without a drenching.

Finalists in the Dennis Seales Trophy contest at Sequoyah were congratulating themselves on not having to play a 36-hole contest yesterday's unfavorable conditions. Defeating in both matches would have had to be reported had the committee not wisely sanctioned the postponement.

WITH THE KNIGHTS OF THE GLOVES

Bob Shand.

When Billy Shand returned from Australia he carelessly left the lightweight, featherweight and bantamweight titles behind. Otherwise Billy had a wonderful time in the Antipodes grabbing all the other titles in sight. According to the little record book the Concord boy left Oakland a very ordinary little four-rounder but during his stay on the other side of the Pacific he collected the following titles: Heavyweight, light-heavyweight, middleweight and welterweight. The Australians conceded the Concord athlete these honors and Billy says he was a bit peeved because he could not get down to the lightweight limit. Incidentally one afternoon when there was nothing else doing he took a fall out of Francis Charles, the French heavyweight champion who was then scrounging in Australia, and Shand tucked this one onto his collection. When he returned to America and found he didn't have much luck around New York he invaded the south and deprived Martin Burke of the southern heavyweight championship.

Had Shand gone to Europe upon his return from Australia instead of boxing the Madison Square Garden game there is no telling how many more championships he might have won. On his record he could have knocked off Joe Beckett for the British heavyweight crown and on the records of the British middleweights he could have knocked a flock of them silly in under a minute. Six pointers would have been due soap for Billy. However, Shand permitted himself to be very much mismanipulated with the result that he is back among the little four-rounder again instead of strolling along the Strand with the title of the London sporting world.

Barbarians Defeat Vamps In Semi-Final

Two San Francisco Teams to Battle for Championship Next Sunday

Completely outclassing the less Vampires in yesterday's semi-final match at Tobin field in San Francisco the Barbarians went into the final round of the 1923 soccer championships of the state by winning 5 to 2. Yesterday's victory gives the Barbs the right to face the powerful Olympic club eleven next Sunday for the title.

Stellar work on the part of the Barbarian defense caused the surprise, one of the greatest of the present series. The Vamps had figured to give the Barbs a close run for their money yesterday and the one-sided victory came unlooked for.

Robertson led the attack for the Barbarians, driving in three tallies himself, enough to have defeated the Vamps single handed. He was ably assisted by Parks in his running mate in the forward line, who scored two goals. McCubbin registered the other tally for the winners.

Leftfield of the Vamps was completely taken out of play repeatedly by the clever work of Thorpe and Albrecht.

The line-ups:

Barbarians: Pos. Vamps: Burnett, Albrecht, Goal. Prince, Burnette, Johnstone, Back. MacKenzie, Sofia, Half. Jackson, Thorpe, C. C. Smith, Parks, Forward. Newlands, Robertson, J. H. McHoul, Erickson, C. F. Leftfield. McCubbin, L. L. Hansen.

Open for the top-notchers in the east.

Billy works out today at Paddy Ryan's Surf Beach club in Alameda and the boys who want to get a line on him will get a fine opportunity as Shade will box eight or ten rounds.

HOW ARE YOU SPROUTING THIS SPRING?

Here's a friendly little lady who asks a whole lot of questions I can't begin to answer. So I'm not going to try. In just plain, but letter and letter chat over it at the supper table.

"Dear Geraldine—

"This is to thank you for the kind interest you took in my letter regarding 'Sick Minds Making Sick Bodies' and your answer thereto in a Sunday TRIBUNE. You made your own point wonderfully clear. I do quite understand you agree with you now. The examples you gave were the more interesting as the demonstrations were witnessed by you personally and I have so much more faith in your statements than in those of people one meets casually and that one must unfortunately take 'with a grain of salt.' That conditions, accidents and circumstances must naturally make impressions on our minds that may lower our own vitality or set our bodily functions at naught. I do not deny this. I would like to come to understand that even when this is the case the sickness eventually becomes one of the body and therefore sometimes needs material aid as well as spiritual and mental aid. The fact that we know we have contracted an illness originally through a mental condition, does not always in itself cure that illness, though it may tend to cure it. I am an effort to remove the thereby improve conditions and minimize danger of further illness. The mechanic must know what causes his machinery to get out of order, but he must also know how to start it again. The removal of the cause is not always sufficient; that is where the doctor, the surgeon comes in; they must know how to get the machinery of the human body started again, and therefore I do not see why a Christian Scientist should consider them altogether 'taboo.' They are only human and make mistakes sometimes but, dear me, let us give everyone his due. When I was a child of weeks old I had measles. Was that mind? Can so tiny a baby have much of a subconscious mind? How about animals? They are also sick sometimes. I had a cat that had tuberculosis. Did she have a subconscious mind? Well, maybe she did.

"I did like your 'Listen, World!' of March 21, about deceiving father and husband. I have seen so much of that and it disgusts me, but when I told such people what you say I only gave 'me' to offense. Well, that is the beauty of having a Geraldine. They can read it for themselves. I made up my mind years before I could tell a man I loved him, and I didn't. The confidence between my husband and self has proved a priceless blessing. We have our little differences and flare-ups once in a while but the fact that I can tell him I love him and he knows it, makes all the difference. I don't know if I can tell you how much I love you. From Here's good reading, and some original thinking on that seemingly exhausted topic of divorce.

"Dear Gerry—

"They've been laying down wise remarks about the causes of divorce. It seems to me, and that cause is the War. Yes I see you grin. Everything has been blamed on the war, but this is what I mean. The war brought about more damned fool marriages than can be counted. The soldiers were picked up by the draft board and they took all kinds of fellows, put them in fifty uniforms, marked a 'My Hero' halo on their brows and then the girls married them, often with no knowledge of their past. They were boys of all kinds, the salt of the earth, mixed with the scum of the earth. And the girls were the same. Many a fine lad was taken in by a some female sharper who had an eye on his inheritance and allotment. Many a fine girl married a bum because he looked well in uniform. Well, when the war ended they came to earth with a slump. The little girl discovered that the boy who looked like a hero was a scoundrel. The boy who was a scoundrel discovered that the girl who looked like a heroine was a scoundrel. His bride was

In your blood? How much new life are you contributing, how much old decay are you casting from you?

"But I'm different," you say. "Trees and grass grow anyway. They can't help themselves. It's different when you are a human being and sickness and sorrow and trouble have dried up the springs of life in you."

No, humans aren't "different." Trees and grasses don't "grow anyway." Growing is a hard job for trees as well as men. A potato struggles to attain its spring resurrection. Stop and think of the weeks of pushing and building, reaching out through the darkness, groping up towards the light that finally resulted in that small sphere of starch. Consider the infinite, obscure labor that precedes the bursting of an apple blossom. Not only the new growth to be prepared, but the refuse of last year's life which must be eliminated. Hard work, yes—so hard that the weaklings die before it is accomplished and the laggards pine in the midst of pining bloom.

For you, too, there is a certain spring, but you must work for it. It will not come of itself for you, any more than it comes of itself to the oak or the onion. You must cast off the dead wood of old regrets, crippling hates and wasteful habits—you must dig your roots deep into the richness of a greater life, a sure content—you must reach patiently up through the dark to a new and shining goal. Each spring should see in you a deliberate resurrection and renewal. Otherwise you have broken faith with that life which counts on you as it counts on the onion and the oak.

Your Ship

There is a ship—
For everyone—
That's coming into port some day—
And on the bow or stern you'll find—
Your name—
The letters traced in burnished gold—
And if you're waiting at the dock—
With outstretched arms—
The wishes that you long since made—
Will all come true—
I tell you this as I was told—
When I was but a whining lad—
And pulling at the apron strings—
Of patient cheerful mother—
And when I wanted this or that—
She never scolded or said—no—
But always pointed out at sea—
And in a quiet manner said—
"Your every wish will be fulfilled—
When your ship comes in"—
And mother, too, would often sit—
And watch for that mysterious boat—
That held her name—
I know it, for I've heard her say—
She'd get the things she long had craved—
When her ship got in—
And often sitting by her side—
And gazing far across the waves—
Where both our crafts were sailing—
I used to watch her yearning eyes—
To see if she had caught a glimpse—
Of a white sail—
And wished that mother's would come first—
And never fail—
To answer every prayer she'd made—
But somehow as we watched each day—
I noticed mother's hair was gray—
A little bit around the temples—
That gave her face a quiet look—
I'd never noticed it before—
And when she looked far out at sea—
The thought that always troubled me—
Was that her eyes had lost the hope—
That some day when her ship came in—
It would not find her waiting—
And well she knew—
For one day on the ebbing tide—
Without a guide—
Save one on whom she always leaned—
She sailed to meet the one white sail—
That carried each unselfish wish—
She ever made—
But ere she left she whispered low—
"Be not afraid—
Just watch and work with patient heart—
And do your part—
Then some day from across the blue—
A sweet content will sail to you—
When your ship comes in."

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy
by Johnny Gruelle

SO BETSY BONNET STRING SAT UPON THE INVISIBLE SLIPPER SLIDE AND SCOOTED TO THE GROUND.

RAGGEDY ANN and Raggedy Andy and Betsy Bonnet String did not know that old Gurgie Grog, the bottle imp, and the Geewhiller had been quarrelling over the back of trees and wanted to get from Betsy's magic apron.

Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and Betsy Bonnet String were having too much fun to even think of the bottle imp and the Geewhiller. And who wouldn't forget a lot of trouble if they had what the Raggedys and Betsy Bonnet String had found in the deep, deep woods?

Have you ever seen tree mushrooms? Tree mushrooms grow right out of the back of trees and are shaped a lot like oyster shells. Some people call them "oyster mushrooms." Usually the tree mushrooms grow in clusters one above another but close together. So when the Raggedys and Betsy Bonnet String saw the tree mushrooms growing from a great high tree, just like staircases instead of clusters, the Raggedys and Betsy Bonnet String thought it would be fun to climb the mushroom staircases. And that is just what they did.

until they reached the top of the great high tree. Then when they got up there, Betsy Bonnet String clapped her little hands together and said: "Can you Raggedys see an invisible slippery slide reaching from her to the ground?"

Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy laughed, for they wondered how anyone could see anything which was invisible. "No!" they replied. "We can not see it. Betsy Bonnet String could see the invisible slippery slide, because she was a nice kindly Witch. 'Just you see how I scoot from here away down to the ground, then you'll know there's a slippery slide here and you will slide down, too!'"

So Betsy Bonnet String sat upon the invisible slippery slide and scooted to the ground. It was a long scoot and they went very fast! It was lots of fun.

Then they climbed up the tree mushroom staircases and scooted down the invisible slippery slide time after time.

Now the bottle imp and the Geewhiller after tumbling in the giggling brook started out to hunt for Betsy Bonnet String, for they still wished to capture her and make her shake cream puffs from her magic apron.

And they followed Betsy and the Raggedys until they came to the tree with the mushroom staircases. Then they did not know which way to go so they stopped to talk about it.

"When we catch Betsy Bonnet String, I will make her shake her magic apron and give me a thousand doughnuts with great big holes in them!" the Geewhiller cried.

And then that Betsy Bonnet String scooted down the slippery slide, and because it was invisible the bottle imp and the Geewhiller could not see it, so they stood right where Betsy Bonnet String slid down "Kerplunk!" right into

Take an old-fashioned waltz-step, subtract a family relation, add a piece of furniture, subtract a vehicle, subtract an open fabric, add a famous Polish musician who settled in Paris, subtract a small animal fastener and the resulting word will spell the name of an ancient city of Palestine.

Answer tomorrow.

Analysis will show that the first player must knock one pin from the 4 group, leaving groups of seven, 5, 4. He will then be able to win.

Following winning positions against his opponent: (2, 4, 6) (1, 4, 5) (1, 2, 3) (1, 1, 1) or the doubles (4, 4) (3, 3) 2, 2).

The bottle imp, sending him tumbling over and over across the ground, and the Raggedys, following Betsy, scooted down and did the same to the Geewhiller.

And when they picked themselves up, the bottle imp and the Geewhiller ran all the way home without once looking behind them, and they never did know that it was the ones they were looking for who bumped them.

THE REASON KATIE GOT INTO HER FUNNY PREDICAMENT.

I looked from Katie's glistening face to Lillian's dainty hands covered with a repulsive-looking mixture of lard and red and black grease paint, and voiced the compunction I had felt ever since I had summoned Lillian to help Katie.

"Dicky would call me a prize buck passer!" I said, putting the cold-cream bottle and the powder-box on the table. "But, truly, I didn't mean to leave all the disagreeable part for you."

"I wouldn't have missed it for worlds," she retorted, as always making light of her own discomfort. "Please pass a cinema magnate."

She nodded maliciously toward Katie, who, with her eyes screwed shut, as Lillian had commanded, was a laughing-compelling object with her greased face and her tightly-wound knob of hair on the top of her head.

LOOK AT YOURSELF

I shook my head warningly at Lillian, who, with a relaxation which she rarely permits herself, was laughing heartily, though silently. Indeed, I had hard work to control my own risibilities, but I knew Katie's own perceptions, and I feared that even though she could not see us, and could not understand Lillian's uncommon words—purposely chosen—she still might suspect that she was afflicting us amusement.

"What can I do to help?" I asked in a matter-of-fact way.

"Get a bowl of warm water and some soap," she returned, taking my cue. "I'll rub this lard off my hands as well as I can with a dry cloth, and then scrub them well with soap and water before I attempt the cold-cream treatment."

"Dera warm water right in pitcher here," Katie interposed, still with her eyes shut tight. I bring me out oop boiling. I can oop stairs, and I no use eat all. Can I open me mine eyes now, Meesies Underwood?"

"Yes, for a little bit," Lillian returned. "Take a look at yourself in the glass, and think how I would love to see a caper like this again."

Katie unclosed her eyes, skipped agilely to the bureau and peered into the mirror, while I wondered how my temperamental little maid would meet the sight of her own ludicrous reflection. She did not leave us long in doubt, however, for she bent toward the mirror and sent peal after peal of laughter into her reflected face.

"Oh! Oh!" she gasped when she was fairly out of breath, and Lillian and I were looking apprehensively at the door for fear that Mother Graham would hear her and appear wrathfully on the scene.

"All I need is shoost some salt, pepper and some little bits of flour sprinkled over me, put my head in oven, and roast me for von nice greased little peeg. Hai hai hai!"

WHAT LILLIAN OFFERED.

"Better stop it," Lillian threw over her shoulder at me from Katie's washstand where she was scrubbing the lard from her hands. "Do you want Mother Graham up here, Katie?" I demanded sternly. "If you keep on laughing like that she'll be here in five minutes."

The threat sobered her instantly. "I stop me dees meent," she said doctly, then she shook her flat at her own reflection.

"You big bunch of soap greens!" "You big bunch of soap greens!" she sobbed. "You go green, set to run wonder dot a nanny goat don't gobble you oop already. Oh, sei I shoost had dot vomans here by me vunce."

"What's the big idea, Katie?" Lillian asked, coming back to the table with her hands cleansed and dried. "Sit down here and close your eyes again, and tell me about what you've been up to while I finish this job. If I rub some cold-cream on your face now, wipe it off and put some powder on, you'll look all right again. Now, go ahead. Tell me your troubles."

She was working as she spoke, and when she had finished talking, Katie giggled.

"Get out my troubles," she said. "But dot vomans she goin' have lots troubles ven I find her vunce. You tink of her selling me dees stuff (after telling me how to get set off again. Eet you no see how she trick me?)"

Lillian replied with apparent carelessness: "You still want to try the movies?"

"No tell dot yet," the girl replied. "But set no hurt for me to practice oop. I pay me fifteen dollar for lessons, and no want to throw dem away. Und somebody in de beams tell me I goin' do fine. No do you tink I will? Lillian answered cordially while I gazed at her in open-mouthed surprise. "By the way, I know quite a little bit about that business myself. Suppose you do some of your scenarios for Mrs. Graham and me some time soon. Then I'll show you about this make-up thing."

"There," she went on, "your face is all right now. Comb your hair and dress as quickly as you can. Come, Madge, she doesn't need us any longer."

"Dar is such a thing as misplaced bravery," said Uncle Eben. "Tryin' to introduce loaded dice on my Saturday Evenin' Club crap game ain' nuffin' but a waste of courage."

He hazarded: "Very interesting, all this about Yutanak." "Oh, yes," she replied brightly, "you mean the man who left all his money to Lord Carnarvon."

Dorothy Dix
If You Are Wise You'll Arrange
Your Play Time According to Hubby's
Idea of Spending the Evening

It is a vivid illustration of the contrast of human nature that all the men who like to run around and amuse themselves of an evening seem to have married Alice-sit-by-the-fire, while all the women who are natural born gadders appear to have espoused husbands who can't be pried away from their own hearthstones with a crowbar.

EVERYWHERE you go there is a wall from the women:

"I never get to go anywhere because my husband simply will not go out of an evening, and I just adore going."

OR, "The first thing my husband says when he comes in of an evening is, 'Well, what's on the cards for tonight? Where are we going?' What are we going to do? And I'd give anything to stay quietly at home with my book."

AND a yelp from the men: "My wife wears me out dragging me around to foot parties at night. By George, I envy the fellows who can spend an evening in their own easy chairs with their pipe and paper, and hit the hay at 10 o'clock."

OR, "My wife simply won't pal with me. She never wants to go anywhere. She won't trot around with me, so I have to go by my lonesome. Her idea of a hilarious evening is sitting up listening to the kiddies sleep. But me for the bright light."

And there you are, and how to reconcile the irreconcilable tastes of the married is one of the great problems of family life. Of course it is a case where an ounce of prevention would have been better than many pounds of cure. If only the rounders would marry the rounders, and the stay-pouters espouse the stay-pouters, it would save many domestic arguments and tears and scrapes. They don't, however.

THERE is something in a gay young blade that makes an irresistible appeal before marriage to a quiet, mousey little girl; and something in her quiet, little homestayings ways that makes a hit with him. There is something in the joy of life of the girl who dances hoies in her stockings that vamps the man who is a staid old plodder, and there is something in his steadfastness that appeals to her mercurial temperament. And so they get married and fight it out.

SOMETIMES accidents will happen—men and women are lucky enough, or wise enough, to marry in their own class and get fireless companions or running mates according to their tastes. When that occurs we have those ideal couples who go happily together, or for trot together in the cabarets, or toast their toes on the same radiator, or spend their evenings in thrilling heart-to-heart talks about the grocer's trade.

Unfortunately, such congenial couples are rare. Most husbands and wives can agree enough on their workaday schedule, but when they come to their amusement program they find diametrically opposite views as to what constitutes a pleasant and agreeable evening.

It is easy enough to understand why the woman who has been shut up in a house all day and whose work has been performing a series of monotonous tasks that call for so little thought she almost did them automatically should desire to have some excitement brought into her existence. She longs for something to give a new turn to her thoughts, something to put pep into her must-and-milk diet. So she wants to go to the theatre and go forth where there is laughter and gaiety and excitement.

And it is equally easy to see why her husband, who has been working in a crowd all day and who has had to grapple with a hundred new thoughts and problems, wants to spend his evening away from his fellow men in peace and silence.

ONE should say that the solution of the difficulty between this couple would be for the wife to so arrange her affairs that she could get her amusement in the afternoons. Surely there are enough tea luncheons and matinees and bridges and tea dances to give any woman all the diversion she needs without encroaching upon her husband's evenings at home.

OFTEN, though, it is the husband who wants to go and the wife who wants to stay at home. Sometimes these men are pleasure-mad; sometimes they find that to best way to relax from the strain under which they work is by chasing around to theatres and restaurants and dances, and, unlike women, they cannot take their amusements in the day time when they are attending to business, so it must be in the evening.

Now, logically, there is no more reason why a husband should not stay at home with his wife if she is a home body than there is why she should spend her evenings across the street from him if he is a hearty warmer. But, alas, there is neither rhyme nor reason in matrimony. Things simply are, and you have to meet them on that basis.

THEREFORE, the fact remains that if a woman is married to the type of man who has to be continually amused, she is wise if she takes on the amusement job instead of letting him find some other playfellow. If he wants to go to an evening, let him go. If he is a hearty warmer, let him go. If he is a hearty warmer, let him go. If he is a hearty warmer, let him go.

HUSBANDS are safe enough in the daytime at their places of business, but when they go out of an evening to enjoy themselves they need to be chaperoned as tactfully and thoroughly as a debutante flapper.

THE people who are closest to us and to whom we are bound with the strongest ties are those with whom we play.

THIS is a truth that husbands and wives may well ponder.

JUDILEE'S
PARDNER
by Jack Mortimer Lewis

So she tied on apron around my neck and did.

Yesterday was April Fool Day, and I was the only one that got fooled. My ant was washing my face for Sunday School by hanging onto my hair, and that made me think about my hair getting long so I thought I would get 35 cents from my mother to have it cut, and then I would give it to Banty or Peanut to cut my hair for me. Then I would make them give it back, and that way I would have paid it for having my hair cut and I could spend it too. But when I told my mother I would need 35 cents for a hair cut, my ant said she could cut it for me as well as a barber and save 35 cents. My mother said she would be glad if she would.

So she tied an apron around my neck and did, and when she got done the top of my head looked like clabbers on a house, but my mother said a boy does not care anything about how he looks. So that is how I got fooled. My Sunday School teacher said: "If you have had your root mingled Thomas Aristides," and everybody laughed but the Lost Boy of Tripe, and he would only I was looking at him. I have forgot how March came in but it went out like a whole flock of lambs.

Today it was still warm, and when I had tied Judilee down by the rope in his teeth and had went out in the yard to go to the barn and milk the dumbered brees there was a robin in the yard pulling on a worm that he had caught half out of his hole. The ground was so muddy that the robin could not get a very good hold and when it leaped over backwards as far as it could the worm put on a little steam and the robin's feet skidded and it slid on its bussey way up to the top of the house.

It looked surprised and ashamed of itself for a minute, and then it got mad and put on leg over the worm and walked off frontwards instead of backing up, and it had the worm out of there in no time and swallowed it. I was so mad that I would swallow a live worm it would crawl around and tickle him and his teacher would not know what he was doing.

Younless had a new lid when she was going to school, and when we got there all the other girls did, but we met Mealy Outwails on the way and she was wearing one of Spider's old lids, and when she saw we had got a hand full of mud and watched me and Puffie go past, but I did not do anything and neither did she, but I guess she would've if I had, and I know I would've if she had, and she knew too, the little mut.

A fellow named Joe went to school in April, and any other time. I saw a bluebird on the way home. I mean on my way home. After supper my grandfather asked me to sing. My ant did not say anything, she just looked at him. I guess he had some kind of a joke on her the way he laughed. I did not sing. I went to bed.

Yesterday was April Fool Day, and I was the only one that got fooled. My ant was washing my face for Sunday School by hanging onto my hair, and that made me think about my hair getting long so I thought I would get 35 cents from my mother to have it cut, and then I would give it to Banty or Peanut to cut my hair for me. Then I would make them give it back, and that way I would have paid it for having my hair cut and I could spend it too. But when I told my mother I would need 35 cents for a hair cut, my ant said she could cut it for me as well as a barber and save 35 cents. My mother said she would be glad if she would.

Child's History of the HUMAN RACE

INDIANS FORCED INTO SLAVERY.

It is hard to say how Columbus looked. There are many "pictures" of him, but probably none was made while he was alive. The portrait above is an effort to show how he looked when well along in years.

After returning to Spain, Columbus became "the man of the hour." Everywhere, he was honored. The king and queen gave him a grand reception and he rode in a parade along with soldiers on horseback and the Indians he had brought back.

Columbus showed the monarchs bracelets and other golden trinkets obtained from the islands across the Atlantic. He said there was all sorts of gold to be obtained, if more men and ships were sent across.

cause they thought Columbus could get it for them.

"Fine!" they exclaimed. "We shall give you a larger fleet and many men. You can prepare to start at once."

About a year after he had first sailed westward, Columbus set out on his second voyage. This time he had seven ships.

Reaching the island of Haiti, the Spaniards looked for the men they had left in a little fort. All they found was ruins, with here and there a dead body or skeleton. To explain this mystery, they asked questions of the Indians. This is the story they heard:

"The men were given two or three wives apiece by the Indian chief, but that didn't satisfy them. They went out to various parts of the island and stole women and girls. This led to quarrels with the natives. Some of the Spaniards were killed in that way. Others died when they fought among themselves. Still others went to live among Indian tribes."

This story gives a hint of the quarrels which were to arise in later years between white men and red.

Columbus decided to start a large colony on Haiti and to work the mines. He wanted to send gold back to Spain and to become rich himself.

The Indians were forced into slavery. They had to work on the farms of the white men, and Columbus tried to force everyone of them to bring him a certain amount of gold.

Hundreds of Indians were killed and shipped to Spain to be sold as slaves. "Twice said they were to be 'made into Christians.' Most of the poor fellows died soon after being set to work in Europe."

WHEN LEAST EXPECTED

LYDIA DAYLEY and her fiancé, Glenn Lilley, quarreled, and so to them romance died. What did they quarrel about? Who can tell? No third person knew. Love is set apart and its secrets are inviolable except in cases in which matrimony and the courts are involved. Then the newspapers learn it.

Lydia was artistic, and that means temperamental idiosyncrasy. Her father, potent in affairs and artistic himself in the sense that he was deft in accumulating money originally in other hands, and her mother, socially prominent, were sure Lydia was artistic and delightful in the fact. Not that they cared to have Lydia make a career, of course. An artistic daughter reflects credit upon her parents.

So Lydia, her romance shattered, declared she would live for her art alone, imagining that this was an original idea. And her parents, who had not objected to her fiancé, were pleased that she had something to divert her mind.

Glenn Lilley, who had enjoyed a secure life in his father's banking house, disappeared from his former haunts—which socially were Lydia's own—and adopted Greenwich Village, a neighborhood in which certain temperaments may forget trouble, unless the trouble is vital, or develop it if they please for excitement.

Lydia and Glenn had quarreled in the Spring, when lovers usually are sympathetic. In the Summer at Narragansett, where Lydia's mother led a set that thought little of other sets, Lydia painted feverishly. Local amateurs declared that her pictures were worthy of exhibition.

Returning to the family mansion in town in the Autumn, Lydia became possessed with a desire to explore Greenwich Village. This obsession she cherished secretly, for her parents were very conventional.

One day, taking luncheon alone in a smart restaurant on Fifth Avenue, Lydia encountered Marilla, who had been a chum at a finishing school. They had not seen each other in a long. Confidences flowed like a brook. It appeared that Marilla, pursuing her family's wishes, had jilted a fiance who had money.

"And he had nothing else, dearest, absolutely," she said to Lydia. "But I found a mate."

"Of course. And happy. My name is now DeLaTour. My husband is a poet and a dramatist. And a Socialist," Marilla added with a laugh.

"You are the type!" he exclaimed to Lydia a moment after introduction.

"Yes? I don't quite—"

"Isn't she darling?" he challenged Mrs. DeLaTour.

"He means, dear Lydia, that you are the type he wants for one of his plays."

"Do you mean that?" Lydia was incredulous.

"I always mean what I say," replied DeLaTour. "Have you ever acted?"

"No, except in an amateur way at school. But I'm told I read the classics well."

"The classics?" DeLaTour scoffed. "We of today are writing things that will relegate what are called 'the classics' to oblivion. Come, darling!"

He turned to Marilla. "Let's take your pretty friend to a rehearsal."

"Of the play you think I—"

"Oh, not 'A Rehearsal of The Bird with a Broken Wing.' I shall want you for another play—'The Dissolved Pearl.'"

Lydia hesitated. "Of course I should like to see a rehearsal, but as for acting—I may not be able to—I mean my mother, and my father, might not—"

"We shall talk of that later. Come."

The rehearsal was in a darkened hall. It was a dress rehearsal. A bald, pompous person, was coaching a scene. DeLaTour remained in front, telling his wife and Lydia to go behind and he would join them in a moment. They disposed of their wraps and Marilla, leading Lydia by the hand, for the purpose was dark found an opening—the scene had not been fully set—from which they might look on.

The pompous man was saying something to a young man and woman who had been impersonating lovers. He had praised the young woman, who was caressing the young man's chin, probably as a solace for criticism. The coach had told the young man he "was not at all like it."

Lydia looked, abashed and faint. The young man was Glenn Lilley.

Everything became confused. When a young woman who has quarreled and lost sight of her lover faints in such circumstances there is something the matter with her heart.

When Lydia came to she heard Glenn Lilley say, "I'm through!"

In the face of protests from DeLaTour and the pompous man, Lydia's next realization was that she was in a cab with Glenn.

"Where are we going?" she asked. Glenn's arm was about her.

"I'm taking you home, dearest girl," he answered. "How long have you been in Greenwich Village?"

"Only a few minutes. I never was there before."

"Thank heaven for that!" He was caressing her hair. "And that your hair isn't bobbed!"

"And are you going back to that girl you—"

"Hello there! Glenn! Stop!" boomed a basso-profundo voice as the brake on a great motor alongside shrieked and the motor stopped, while the cabbie stopped almost as suddenly. A heavy, gray-haired man leaped from the motor and came to the taxi, taking off his hat to Lydia. "Where you been?" he asked. "Where was Glenn's father?"

"Finishing my education," Glenn replied, grinning.

"Where?"

"Greenwich Village."

"Huh! Among the softshells, eh?"

"Oh, there are some nuts there."

"When are you coming home—and back to the bank?"

"Tomorrow, dad."

The Events Leading Up to the Tragedy

The Jug of Tel-Amarna

TODAY'S SHORT STORY BY Ad Schuster

THERE was excitement and suspense in many parts of the world on the day Prof. Purkett made his find. Nations waited for the result of peace conferences and feared to hear of declarations of war. Prof. Purkett and his group of scientists dug in the ground of old Egypt for the mummy of a Pharaoh, and they found a tomb rich in treasure.

"Here," said the white-haired professor, "may have stood Tel-Amarna. This is a great day for the world!"

Into the tomb they went and drew forth the treasures. There was a spear and a shield, a sort of stool, many jewels and a generous supply of food and wine, sealed in stone jars and designed to furnish sustenance to the departed king on his journey to the land of his gods. In the little group, away out of the sight of everyone, the excitement was no less than in Paris or Berlin.

"It is going to be some job carrying this away!" Casey, superintendent of transport, man of all work, the only one in the party without a degree and a knowledge of archaeology, was perturbed only at the indications of work to come. He seized up the pile of plunder, picked up a small stone jug, and retreated behind a pile of sand.

The sun shone hot on the desert, and his head and Casey's shoulders. Which was peculiar, for, heretofore, his shirt had protected him. "How come?" he said to himself. "The sand burns the soles of my feet right through my shoes! My needs attention!" Casey scrutinized himself and was astounded. Here he was barefooted and all but naked and not a man or a house in sight. He felt of the bright yellow cloth which was tied around his waist and hung to his knees. Then he whistled loudly, leaped in the air, and clapped his heels together.

"Thank heaven for that!" he said. "I was sure I was about to be roasted. How come?" he asked. "Everybody knows I am Tel-Amarna himself!"

So Tel-Amarna set out on the desert, and his head became broken with pyramids and sphinxes. Tel-Amarna walked boldly, swelling his chest as a conqueror. In time he saw a queer procession approaching. It was a group of men, some on foot, some on horseback, and some on camels. They were carrying a large, ornate, and very old-looking box. The men were dressed in traditional Egyptian clothing, and they were all looking at Tel-Amarna with interest.

"All the same," mused Casey, "I know more about them ancient Egyptians than they do." Tomorrow—Drums and the Man. (Copyright 1923)

"Come on, yez," cried Tel-Amarna to the Egyptian horde. "One at a time or all in a bunch. If yer knowin' what's good for you, yer'll turn the lady free. And Tel-Amarna stooped to the burning sand and picked up paving bricks which came, marvelously, to hand."

There was consternation in the army of the Pharaoh, for the aim of Tel-Amarna was of a kind never seen in all the land. Here was a human catapult beset with seven devils. The front rank of clouted huskies lifted one foot under their chins and extended the other straight out behind. Then, as the blades of a pair of shears open and close, the soldiers disappeared over a dancing horizon. Tel-Amarna laughed long, and threw bricks at the king.

The bearers of the couch gave way. Pharaoh fell from his throne and broke in two. Tel-Amarna, with his bare hands, severed the chain and liberated the lady, who was none other than Cleopatra. Rescuer looked at the rescued and felt strangely foolish.

"It is pretty hot out here on the desert, man," he said. "Suppose we go look for a palm tree or a soda fountain?"

Cleopatra looked at Tel-Amarna, and her eyes seemed to be cups of burning fire. The warrior thought of snakes and hyenas. He tried to talk, to move, and found he could not.

"Tell me," breathed Cleopatra, "who are you who has saved me from the king?"

"Oh, me?" the man's voice was back again and uncommonly loud. "I'm Tel-Amarna. I am Tel-Amarna, Tel-Amarna. He kept on yelling it, louder and louder."

"Tel-Amarna, nothing," a new voice sounded in his ear. "You're Casey, and besides, Tel-Amarna was a city, not a man."

Then they found the opened jug which he had sampled, and banished him henceforth to a tent by himself, away from the group.

"All the same," mused Casey, "I know more about them ancient Egyptians than they do." Tomorrow—Drums and the Man. (Copyright 1923)

My Favorite STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Spoken From the Heart Out
Probably most of the readers of this department are familiar with the story of the negro who worked as an extra at one of the Hollywood studios and who, in the filming of a scene purporting to show an African jungle, was called upon to enter a camouflaged cage containing a performing lion. The prospect did not appeal to the candidate. He demurred.

"What's the matter with you?" said the assistant director. "That lion's not going to hurt you. That lion was brought up on milk."

"So wuz I brung up on milk," said the unhappy dorky, "but I eats meat once in awhile now."

Of somewhat more recent vintage is a tale that I heard only the other day. The man who told it to me said it really happened.

At one of the big plants they were making a movie dealing with scriptural times. One scene showed the coat of arms of a negro was selected. He made his entrance, acutely garbed in barbaric trappings. For added realism it was decreed that over his shoulders should be draped a live leopard. Just before the animal was brought out of his cage his trainer gave him a shot of morphine to keep her docile and quiet. She was a lady-leopard.

A small negro, newly arrived in California from Texas, was detailed to accompany the giant on his triumphant entry and to fan him with a huge ostrich plume fan. The costume of this super-numerary consisted of a breach-clout and an ankle bracelet. He took himself and his role very seriously, which of course was exactly what the director desired. In advance he was warned that no matter what happened he must continue to fan the savage king until ordered to leave off. A slip on his part might ruin the whole film.

Midway of the scene the leopard suddenly woke up. Presumably, the dope was dying out in the spotted beast. She emitted a snarl and began to wiggle off her perch upon the big black man's shoulders. With one hand he grabbed her by the neck and held the spitting, squealing creature at arm's length.

There was an instantaneous scuttling. The director, the camera-man and the supporting members of the cast beat it for pieces of safety. Only the little dorky held his ground. Mindful of his instructions he continued the fanning operation; but the man trembled and quivered in his grip and the corner of his mouth, with all the fervor of which he was capable, he entreated the big negro over and over again in these words:

"Don't cast her aside! That's all I asks you—don't cast her aside!" (Copyright, 1923.)

CLARICE PATTERNS

Simplicity and Charm Combined (No. 1709)

Even the beginner in home dress making can produce charming effects if she selects a style such as this. The pattern cuts in sizes 16 years 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure; size 36 requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material with 1 yard of 27-inch contrasting material. Price 15c, stamps or coin. CUT OUT ALONG THESE LINES

Lydia literally embraced her opportunity. She was impressed by the elementary simplicity of the DeLaTour message. The place looked as though they had just moved in or were just about to move out. The furnishings showed a genius for adaptation. It was all interesting and interesting. He was so different from anything she had ever seen. DeLaTour came in while the young women were chatting. He was interesting to Lydia for a like reason. He looked like a hand. His abundant hair was long, after the old Theban fashion. His collar and shirt were very prominent, and his eyes had something of the ebullient amplitude of a gaudy.

DROP IN POTATO PRICES FORECAST IN EAST MARKETS

Flood of Shipments Following Recent Jump Consigns Larger Centers.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Possibilities of a drop in potato prices within the next month which will reach proportions are fully recognized by the potato growers and shippers. A recent advance in prices, however, has caused a flood of shipments which followed a quick recession. Today there are nearly 50,000,000 bushels of potatoes still in the hands of growers and dealers from the 1932 crop. These must be sold in the next six weeks or sprouting will make them unavailable. The new crop potatoes already are making their appearance from Florida, Nevada, and Arizona, bringing from $10 to $14 a barrel.

The stability of prices even at present levels for old crop potatoes depends entirely on the condition of stocks in the hands of growers. In many instances it is reported the potatoes were simply dumped into pits in the fields last fall. Few if any such stocks will be available for market. If, however, the major proportion of potatoes on hand are in storage in fair condition, a slump in prices hardly can be avoided. The situation has been helped somewhat, however, by the damage done the new crop by frosts in the south and southwest.

TOO MANY ONIONS.
The Easter season which normally is a period of prosperity for certain lines of food products, was not an advantageous one as usual for these commodities. These products at this time of the year find their chief markets among the foreign born citizens and producers, having just become aware of this fact in the last year or so, flooded many of the centers where foreigners are located with an excess of supplies.

Onions, for example, find their principal markets among the foreign population at present in the city and with a big crop produced last year the markets are oversupplied. Sellers are holding back for higher prices and buyers, seeing the volume of vegetables available, are refusing to buy. In the city the onion center at River North river, is flooded with produce from the south, west and Bermuda.

CHICKENS AND TURKEYS.
Poultry also is in extreme demand in centers where foreigners are concentrated and chickens in eastern cities have risen to 45 cents a pound. A considerable number of these fowls were developed but these fowls could be had at from 34 to 37 cents a pound, which is from 2 to 4 cents a pound below the prices which obtained during the Christmas holidays.

Restrictions against the entry into many eastern cities of live goats was removed for Easter week, regarded as an special Italian holiday. The shipment of these kids, most of which come from Georgia, has grown into an extensive industry.

CELEBRATE 70th ULI RUTH LORLO WITHIN CITY FIRE LIMITS PROPOSED

Commissioner Colbourn Has Plans for Ordinance to Permit Repairs.

As a result of numerous complaints against the present city ordinance forbidding the alteration of frame buildings within the fire limits, Commissioner Frank Colbourn today announced that he is framing a new ordinance which will create separate zones within the fire-limit zone.

The ordinance, says Colbourn, will be introduced in the city council Wednesday or Thursday, and will constitute about the first case on record where sub-zones are established within the downtown fire limits of any city.

"The idea of the building ordinance concerning the alteration of frame buildings," says Colbourn, "was to compel property owners in the downtown district to build new and better structures when the old ones wear out. By forbidding alterations, the old structures would end their careers sooner than if alterations were allowed, and thus a better-built city would emerge quicker from the wreck."

"But our fire limits are very large. They extend from Lake Merritt to Market, and from the estuary to a point in North Oakland. Much of the territory within the fire limits is not within the business district. Much of it is strictly residential. To forbid alterations in some of the residential districts, we find, tends to impede improvements rather than help them."

"Because of this situation, we have decided that the best thing is to sub-zone the fire-limit zone."

"The business district, we believe, should not be allowed to keep its old shacks any longer than is absolutely necessary. The more stringent regulations, then, can be upheld in the business district. Then there is Automobile Row, up Broadway, which needs a special regulation. Then there is the residential district near the lake, where another regulation should govern."

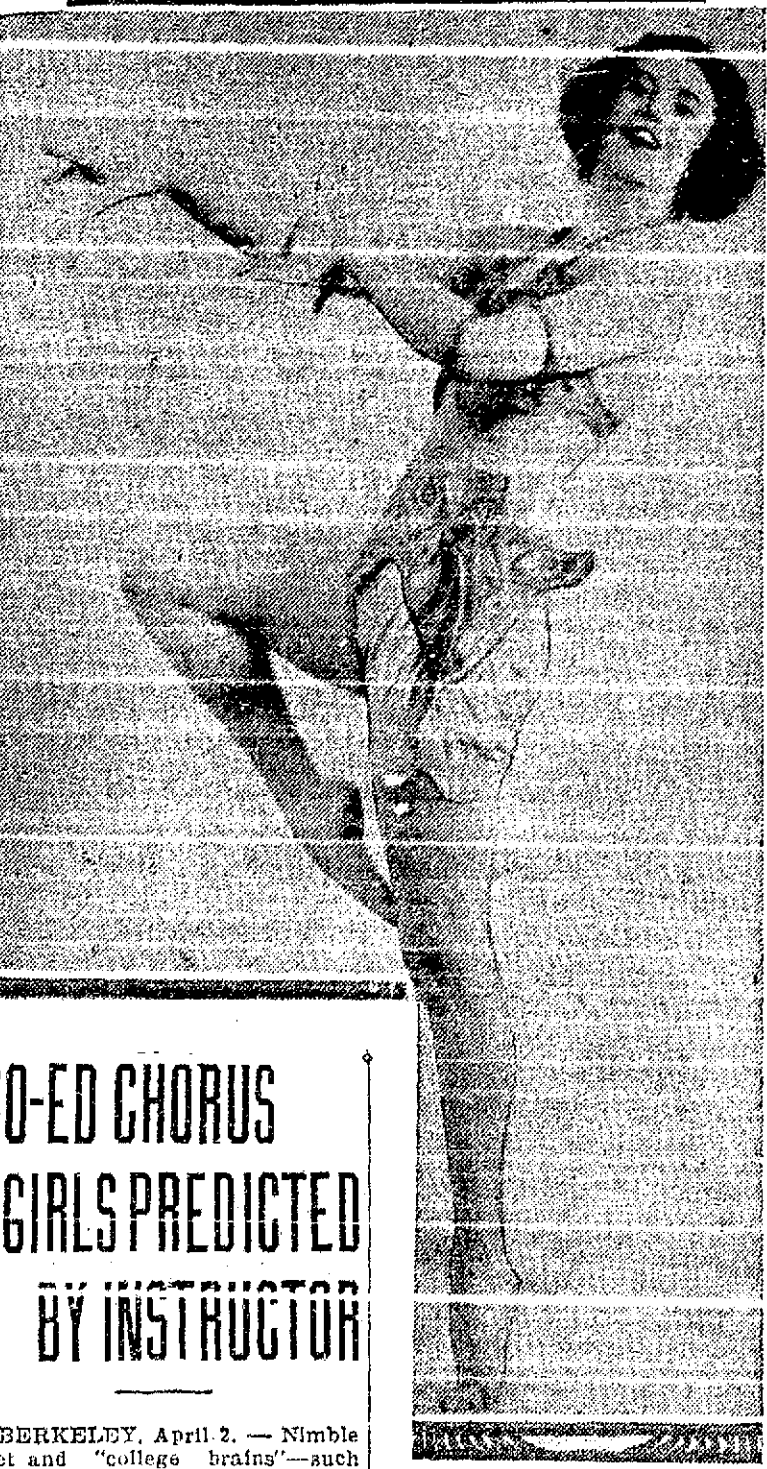

"Altogether, we have come to the conclusion that four separate zones can be created within the fire-limit zone, and we believe that the ultimate ordinance will be nearly satisfactory to all the interests concerned, and to the better growth of the city as a whole."

PEERS PLAY HOOKY.

LONDON, April 2.—Although the membership of the House of Lords is 740, recent statistics show that an average session of the Upper House is attended by only 170 peers. These figures are an annual average. Were it not for the special sessions, the average attendance would be less than a hundred.

Brains and Beauty for Dancers

MISS VIRGINIA WHITEHEAD, who says dancers of the future must combine brains with beauty instead of merely possessing the latter. Miss Whitehead is here shown in a Siamese dance for which she has become well known.

CO-ED CHORUS GIRLS PREDICTED BY INSTRUCTOR

BERKELEY, April 2.—Nimble feet and "college brains"—such will be the dancer of tomorrow. Chorus made up entirely of university girls are not such a wild thing of the imagination as they would seem. In the opinion of Miss Virginia Whitehead, exponent of the dancing art.

For verification of her theory that the dancing field is going to be dominated by brains and beauty instead of merely the latter, Miss Whitehead points to the increasing number of college maids devoting themselves to attaining grace and efficiency in the realm of Terpsichore with a view of choosing dancing as their life work.

CONTEST FOR S. P. 14TH ST. STATION TO BE REOPENED

Council Orders City Attorney to Proceed With Case at Once.

The Oakland city council this morning adopted a resolution ordering the city attorney to proceed with the case against the Southern Pacific, in which a new depot is asked for Fourteenth and Franklin streets.

All action was held up some time ago pending negotiations between the Athens Athletic Club and the Southern Pacific for a club and depot on the site. As the mayor pointed out to the council in a letter today, those negotiations have now fallen through.

FOUR LICENSES CANCELED. The council adopted a resolution of intention to pave R street from Jones to Ninety-second avenue, and canceled the restaurant license of U. Pasquino at 776 Fruitvale avenue, in addition to revoking three soft drink licenses. They were: Antonio Franks, 2261 East Fourteenth; A. P. Chanquest, 1917 San Pablo; and H. F. Hastings, 733 Broadway.

Concerning the depot at Fourteenth and Franklin streets, Mayor Davis's letter to the council said: "On March 22, I wrote to the Athens Athletic club asking the directors of that organization to advise me concerning the possibilities of their erecting a building upon the site bounded by Franklin, Webster, Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. In that letter, I called attention to the fact that the city had agreed to a postponement of the case before the Supreme Court, in which the Southern Pacific was ordered by the Railroad Commission to erect a new depot upon that site."

Coin 99 Years Old Dug Out of Gravel in Yolo

WOODLAND, April 2.—While digging gravel on the banks of Putah creek near Woodland, C. J. Hageman of Sacramento, reports having found a silver piece coined by the United States 99 years ago. Hageman, with a party of men and women from Woodland and Sacramento, were panning on the creek between Woodland and Winters. He was digging around in the gravel by way of sport when he turned over the century old coin, the size of a 50-cent piece and with the head of the Goddess of Liberty facing another direction than on the current day coin.

The Athens Athletic Club that this site has been abandoned by them. I am enclosing herewith the letter from the Athens Club.

The matter of an adequate station building at Fourteenth and Franklin streets is one of vital necessity to Oakland. It was only because of the negotiations between the Athens club and the railroad company that the Supreme Court sit on this matter was not pressed by the city.

"I feel that the city should take immediate action with a view to having the depot building ordered by the Railroad Commission erected on this location, and I am therefore introducing a resolution directing the city attorney to take the necessary legal action which will provide for this."

TWO COMPANY FIRE HOUSES ARE ALL REMODELED

Work Under Way for Year and Is Now Nearing Completion.

The completion of the rebuilding of the interiors of all two-company fire houses was announced to the public works department today by C. M. Wardall, building superintendent, who has modernized the houses at a cost of $19,267.

The houses remodeled include engine companies 2, 3, 4, 7, 10, 15, 16, 17, 18 and 20. Company 20 is being finished. The new fire house at Thirty-fourth and Magnolia, to be occupied by Chemical 2, will be completed soon.

The remodeling of the fire houses, under way for the greater part of a year, includes new sleeping quarters for the men, new kitchens, new partitions and new interior arrangements.

SAN LEANDRO, April 2.—Miss Theodora Weber, principal of the McKinley grammar school here, has returned from a week's stay with her sister, Mrs. Harold H. Howard, at Rio Grande, near San Luis Obispo. Miss Weber returned to her duties today.

Mad Bull Makes Aviators vacate Sonoma Pasture

SANTA ROSA, April 2.—Robert Paul Sachs, advertising manager for an Oakland firm, is back home safe today after what he describes as a harrowing experience with a Sonoma county bull.

Sachs left Oakland by airplane, piloted by Emmet Tanner, to deliver a rush order of tires to the firm's Santa Rosa dealer. The aviators lost their bearings and instead of reaching Santa Rosa they landed in a field near Sonoma.

Sachs alighted from the plane and walked toward a farm house with the idea of asking directions. Then he made his mistake. It was warm, and he mopped his brow with a red handkerchief.

The next thing he knew he found a massive bull and looking down upon him. Sachs, who is not particularly willowy, made a wild dash for the airplane, and he scrambled in as Tanner, sensing the situation, shot down the field away from the pursuing bull. They hopped off just over the heads of a herd of cattle, and were safe. A few minutes later they spotted the court house in Santa Rosa, and were again on their way to their original destination.

GIRL KILLED BY CRASH.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 2.—Fay Cooke, 15, granddaughter of J. J. Cook, 65, Oregon City postmaster, died at a hospital last night of injuries sustained when an automobile, driven by her grandfather, collided with a street car. Cook suffered minor injuries.

A Painted Neighborhood

YOU are proud of your neighborhood. You delight in having your friends see your home and those that surround it. Every time you come up the street, you thrill with pride that you are able to bring up your family in such pleasant surroundings. The homes may not be costly, but they are well kept. In other words, they're painted.

Just stop and picture those same houses run down for lack of paint—drab, shabby, weather-beaten—and you'll realize what it means to you to live in a well-painted neighborhood. You not only enjoy it, but your children, because of this daily association, are being taught the beauty of harmonious colors.

BASS-HUETER Paints and Varnishes give to your home that well-kept appearance every one admires. You can't buy better paint or varnish than that which bears the Bass-Hueter label, representing over sixty years of progress in paint making. These products are made on the Pacific Coast and successfully meet the climatic conditions peculiar to the West.

What you pay for the paint is but a small part of the finished work. It costs just as much to have cheap paint put on, and Bass-Hueter Paint, because it is made of the best materials, will wear twice as long as the average paint. Therefore we suggest that when you repaint your house, or have the interior redecorated, you specify Bass-Hueter products. On the small jobs that you do yourself, you will also find it economy to use a Bass-Hueter product, choosing the one made especially for the work you have to do.

You will be delighted with your results if you follow carefully the directions given on each can.
